L. Y. SHERMAN TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

Senator From Chicago Will Make
Last Republican Speech Here
Saturday Night, Nov. 4

TO BE OCCASION FOR RALLY

Local Republicans to Give Way Before Other Cities Who Want
Watson on That Night

Republican County Chairman Fon
Riggs received word today that Senator L. Y. Sherman of Chicago
would close the republican campaign in Rush county with a speech
at the Graham Annex auditorium
Saturday evening, November 4, following a monster demonstration and
rally.

As has been his custom in past campaigns, James E. Watson has closed the campaign in Rush county
on the Saturday night before the
election on the following Tuesday,
but there have been so many demands for the senatorial candidate
from many places in the state that
Mr. Watson's home county had to give way in this instance because of
the insistent demands elsewhere.

There was a sort of an understanding, though very indefinite, that
Mr. Watson would observe the usual
practice this year, but local republicans were very willing to release Mr.
Watson in view of the fact that there was such a demand for him in
other counties. He was dated by
the speakers' bureau at state headquarters for Henry county on Saturday, November 4, and it was understood by Henry county republicans that Mr. Watson would close
the day with a night speech in Newcastle. Republicans up in Henry
would not listen to any suggestion
that the Newcastle meeting be made
an afternoon affair and that Mr.
Watson be allowed to come to his
home city at night, so the Rush
county republicans had to give way.

Senator Sherman is one of the
most prominent campaigners speaking for the republican national committee this year. It was he who delivered the principal address at the
notification of Charles W. Fairbanks
in Indianapolis. Senator Sherman
has gained distinction in the United States senate and has attained such
prominence in the republican party
that he was a candidate for president at the last national convention.

Senator Sherman is a much
sought after orator who analyzes the
issues of the campaign lucidly and
with great force. He resembles Abraham Lincoln very much, and in other ways is like Lincoln because of his simplicity of dress and because of
his refusal to take up new-fangled
things.

It is the source of great regret to Rush county republicans that their favorite son can not close the campaign here, but those who have expressed any sentiment in this regard
have said that they were willing to
step aside and allow some other city
to hear Mr. Watson's closing campaign speech.

Mr. Watson closed a two days
campaign of Lake county last night.
Mrs. Watson has been accompanying him this week on his tour, having been at Richmond when he spoke
last Tuesday night. Dispatches from Hammond say that Mrs. Watson's
trip, which is the first she ever made
with her husband while he was campaigning, is adding color to Lake
county's spectacular campaign. At East Chicago there was a demonstration in her honor.

In Lake county Mr. Watson was able to drive home the lesson of the war prosperity. He addressed a crowd at noon at Aetna gun-cotton factory. Aetna employees have been told their plant would make dyes after the war. Mr. Watson explained

REPORTED AFIRE AT SEA

French Liner With 300 Aboard is Trying to Make Port

(By United Press.)

New York, Oct. 27.—Wall Street
ticker services this afternoon carried a rumor that the French liner
Chicago with 300 passengers on
board was afire at sea and was endeavoring to make port in the Azores.

The French line had no information regarding the rumor and the
marine exchange likewise had received no report.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM SOUTH CUT

Chihuahua City Connected Only to
the North and Arrival of Re-
inforcements is Delayed

IS DUE TO A COUP OF VILLA'S

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 27.—Chihua-
hua City was cut off from the south
both by wire and railway communication, being severed yesterday,
through a coup executed by Villa,
and the heavy Carranza forces coming up from the south to re-inforce
the garrison will be delayed and ammunition supplies stopped, except
from the north.

A detachment of bandits cut the Mexican national railway about 30
miles south of the Chihuahua capital. Agents of three United States
departments obtained this information today from sources declared to
be reliable.

The severed line was the only railway from the south entering Chihuahua city and the city now is very isolated except from northern Chihuahua. At the same time the main force of Villistas is moving northward.

STOCKHOLDERS OF FAIR ARE TO MEET

Will Gather at Court House Assembly Room Tomorrow Afternoon
to Hear Annual Reports

WILL ALSO ELECT OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Rush County Fair association will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock in the court house assembly room. Notices have been sent to all of the stockholders,
and in view of the fact that there is nothing conflicting this year, a large attendance is probable.

At that time the report of the treasurer, W. S. Oneal, and the secretary, J. Q. Thomas, will be heard.
New officers will be elected, including the board of directors, as is the custom at the annual meeting. The secretary, however, is not chosen by
the stockholders, but is named later
at a meeting of the new board of directors.

The financial condition of the fair
association will be known tomorrow
for the first time since the last fair,
the officers not having made public
the results of the 1916 exhibit because some time was required to settle all of the bills.

5 KILLED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Keokuk, Iowa, Oct. 27.—Five are dead as the result of an explosion
at the Keokuk Gas company today.
Two men were killed by the explosion and three were asphyxiated afterward. Three firemen who tried to rescue the workmen were over-
come by fumes and still live.

CALLS SLOGAN SACRILEGIOUS

Gurley Brewer, Colored Orator of Indianapolis, Refers to "Blessed be the Peacemaker"

URGES NEGRO TO REMEMBER

Asks if Boys in Blue Had Been
"Too Proud to Fight," Where
Would His Race be Now

Gurley Brewer, colored newspaper
editor of Indianapolis, in a republican speech last night at the court house assembly room, urged his people to support the republican party,
declaring that the republican party
was the only party that was the
true friend of the negro. Mr. Brewer said that in his opinion the negro
who voted the democratic ticket violated the will of God.

The assembly room was crowded
for the meeting and the speaker was
frequently interrupted by applause.
John Ferguson presided and introduced the speaker. Mr. Ferguson in a brief speech explained his return
to the republican party.

"In 1912 we had a little party
trouble," said Mr. Ferguson, "and I went astray. But in the language of the great Watson I have no apologies to offer and I thank God that
we are together again. We stand for the same great principles. The democrats can't understand why the
progressives should return to the republican party and I have been frequently asked as to why I returned.
The democratic party is sectional
and in the south they disfranchise
the black man. The same thing will happen in the north if they are continued in power long enough. No,
the democratic party has nothing to
offer my race."

At the start of his address Mr.
Brewer referred to the split four
years ago. "Four years ago," said
the speaker, "the republican party
had grown so big and powerful that
it tried to elect two presidents at the same time and this proved to be impossible."

Mr. Brewer stated that one of the first declarations of the republican party as a national party was its
opposition to slavery and declared
that the spirit of Abraham Lincoln
still lives. He declared that along with the freedom of the colored race
came the discussion of that great
economic question of protection.
"Of course the south was opposed to
a protective tariff," said Mr. Brewer.
"With their slave labor they did not
want protection, but after the slaves
were freed then came the great
battle for this principle."

"The Republican party is the only true party for the negro. I believe that it was God's will that the republican party take its stand against slavery and free the negro and when
a negro votes the democratic ticket
he violates the will of God, in my opinion. I have no respect for a colored man who forgets what has been done for him."

The speaker then referred to the
campaign slogan of the democrats,
"He Kept us Out of War." "We all
deplore war," said the speaker. "It
is dreadful and across the water
they are waging the worst conflict in
the history of the world. 'He kept us out of war.' What war? On my way here I noticed two large banners in Indianapolis, one bearing the words, 'He kept us out of war' and
the other 'Blessed be the Peace-
maker.' This last is from the Bible
and it appeared sacrilegious to me. It surely does not apply to Woodrow Wilson. If he is the great peace-
maker they would have you believe,
why does he permit the shipping of
munitions and still maintain that we are neutral? We are having munition prosperity. He lifted the embargo on arms into Mexico. If he had ac-

PEARL LINK IS GIVEN A DIVORCE

Glenwood Woman Granted Decree
From Lee O. Link by Judge
Sparks on Payment of Costs

GETS CUSTODY OF 4 CHILDREN

G. W. Thomas Wins Over Frank
Warrick on Plea in Abatement
—Ayres Land to be Sold

Judge Sparks this morning heard
the divorce suit of Mrs. Pearl Link
against Lee O. Link and granted her
a divorce upon payment of the costs.
The Links reside in Glenwood. The defendant did not appear in court
against his wife.

Mrs. Link alleged cruel and in-
human treatment and told the court
of abuses suffered when he was intoxicated. Judge Sparks gave her
the custody of their four minor children and ordered Link to pay the sum of $5 a week to the clerk of the court for the support of the children.

The court found for the plaintiff,
George W. Thomas, against the defendant, Frank Warrick on the plea
in abatement and ordered the defendant to plead over. The case will now be tried. The suit is for possession, Thomas demanding possession of his farm in Walker township.

In the suit of Frank Wilson
against Horrie Brooks, on a judgment, demanding $150, the court
found for Wilson for $133.47.

The land of the late Ira W. Ayres
was ordered sold when the court
heard the petition of A. L. Gary, as trustee of the estate, asking that the real estate be sold. Under the decision of the court the land is to be sold at private sale and is to be
sold either as a whole or in parcels.

ASKS RE-ELECTION ON HIS OWN RECORD

Congressman Finly Gray Speaks to Large Audience at Mays on Thursday Night

COMES HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Finly Gray of Connersville, democratic candidate for congress,
opened his campaign in Rush county
last night, speaking to a large audience at Mays. Congressman Gray
told of the laws enacted by the progressive element of the democratic party and told the progressives that
the democrats had enacted all the
laws they had asked for in their platform of 1912.

Gray did not mention any state issues but stuck closely to national affairs. He told of some of his own achievements, appealing for re-election on his record. He claimed that the democratic party has given
the people popular election of United States senators, the campaign
publicity law, a currency reform,
revenue and taxation reforms, labor
legislation, inheritance and direct
taxes, child labor laws, tariff for revenue only and the rural credits
law.

He was introduced by Will New-
bold of this city. Several democrats
from this city attended the meeting.
Gray speaks at Falmouth tonight
and in Rushville next Tuesday night.

RETURNS TO SHADOW LAWN

President Prepares for Celebration
of Wilson Day Tomorrow

(By United Press.)

Grafton, N. J., Oct. 27.—President Wilson was returning today to Shadow Lawn to prepare for the final fireworks of the campaign. Tomorrow is "Wilson Day" throughout
the nation and the democracy will observe it generally by reading at
local meetings the same message the president is to deliver at a gathering at the summer white house.

NO TRUTH IN STORY HE WILL BE GAGED

Theodore Roosevelt Says There is no
Dispute Between Him and
Hughes Managers

TO MAKE 5 MORE SPEECHES

BY J. P. YODER

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 27.—Answering
published reports that he was to be
gaged into pussy-footing on the German issue and that as a result a
coldness had arisen between himself
and the powers behind the Hughes
campaign, Col. Roosevelt today announced he would make five more
speeches in the interest of the republican presidential candidate.

The colonel denied the report of
friction as follows:

"I am absolutely agreed with the
managers of the Hughes campaign.
They ask me only to state my inner-
most and deepest convictions as I desire. I am in entire harmony with them."

DESTROYERS CLASH IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

Two German Ships are Sunk When They Attempt Night Attack
and Rest Driven Off

ONE BRITISH THOUGHT LOST

(By United Press.)

London, Oct. 27.—British and German destroyers clashed in a sharp naval engagement in the English channel last night, the admiralty
announced today.

The German warships attempted a raid under cover of darkness. Two enemy destroyers were sunk.

It is feared that one of the British destroyers was lost, the admiralty added, and another was disabled.

"Last night ten enemy destroyers
participated in an attack to raid the
cross-channel transport service,"
said the admiralty statement. "The
empty transport Queen was sunk.
The crew of the transport was saved. Two of the enemy destroyers
were sunk and the rest driven off."

"The British destroyer Flirt is missing and it is feared is lost. The destroyer Lubian was disabled and forced aground."

ARE EVACUATING DOBRUDJA

London, Oct. 27.—The Russo-
Roumanian forces are evacuating all of Dobrudja, the Bulgarian war office announced today. The Petro-
grad official statement announced
that the Russian army was retiring
northward and was offering stubborn
resistance. The German left wing
has pushed forward 25 miles. On the Somme front the French have begun closing in on the enemy, the French war office announced.

Berlin declares that French troops
were repulsed at Douaumont.

NO KNOWLEDGE OF SUCH A PLOT

Representatives of State Department
on Border Know Nothing of
Plan to Attack U. S. Soldiers

NEW STATEMENT BY BAKER

Reiterates First Charge That Plot
Exists to Produce Armed Conflict With Americans

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 27.—Representatives of the state department on
the border claim to have no knowledge of a plot of Mexican revolutionists to raid the American expeditionary force in Mexico, while United States militia officers say they have been prepared for some such eventuality as this.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Secretary
of War Baker and Secretary of State Lansing both declared today
that a Mexican, not American, plot-
ter is responsible for the border raid
danger outlined in Baker's startling
statement of last night.

"I can not imagine any American citizen so unpatriotic, heartless and
wanton as to join in such action,"
said the secretary of state.

"The Mexican opponents of the de facto government," said Secretary Baker, "would of course be glad to complicate the relations between
the United States and Mexico and
our information is that they think
this is an appropriate time to do so."

Washington, Oct. 27.—Secretary
of War Baker announced today that he may have another statement to
make later, on the charge that a plot
exists to produce armed conflict between Mexico and the United States.
Administration officials indicated
today they consider Baker's statement as intended as a warning to Mexico and a guarantee of the American government's good faith. The administration officials expect the Carranza government to take final
and effective measures for the suppression of Mexican banditry.

Mr. Baker issued this statement
first, calling attention to the alleged
plot:

"The War Department has received
definite information confirmed
from other sources that enemies of
the administration's policy toward Mexico, in co-operation with Villa or other bandits in Mexico, have arranged a spectacular attack to be made either upon some part of the American forces or upon some American
community on the border between
now and the date of the election, for
the purpose of turning the tide of
sentiment against the policy which
the administration had adopted for
the protection of the border."

"It is significant in this connection that both the State and War
Departments were advised that the bandit forces operating at the present time in Mexico are being paid in silver coin."

"Full particulars have been transmitted by the department to Gen.
Funston and Gen. Pershing. All American forces are, therefore, forewarned and in readiness for such an attack."

HOW TO SELL THINGS THAT ARE "FOR SALE"

Write your "For Sale" ad SIMPLY stating every detail about the article that you would want an ad to give if you were anxious to buy something of the kind yourself. Give a little thought to the "selling points" about the article, and put THEM into your ad. Then run the ad MORE THAN ONCE, if that is necessary. It may or may not be.

Buy Advertised Brands — They're Best

"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTIN. GUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRANDS—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheaper" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectively, to gain.

FLORENCE

You will remember the great Hot Blast Air Tight Florence that was demonstrated in the Centennial parade Friday, Oct. 13, by Mr. J. B. Howard, the inventor. Read what he has to say about it:

Mr. Howard, the inventor, says that with 4 or 5 tons of the poorest and cheapest grade of soft coal you can heat 4 or 5 rooms all winter with a No. 153 Florence, which will produce cleaner results than hard coal in a base burner. The result that you will get with 4 or 5 tons of the poorest soft coal in the Florence, will equal 6 or 7 tons of coal in any other make of stove or furnaces. LEADING DEMOCRATIC PAPERS OPPOSED TAGGART WHEN HE WAS NOT ON THEIR TICKET

The Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, the leading Democratic organ of northeastern Indiana, in July, 1906, demanded Tom Taggart's resignation as chairman of the National Committee, saying:

"There may be more politics than morality in the French Lick gambling crusade, but the case is against Mr. Taggart, and he can not continue to serve as chairman of the National Democratic Committee without doing the party irreparable harm. The relation between the hotels and the casinos, or gambling houses at French Lick and West Baden are too well known to admit of doubt. The issue is made between the state of Indiana and men who have challenged its authority for years, and the people will stand by the state as against the law breakers and gamblers, who ought to be driven out of the business forever."

In July, 1906 the Richmond Sun-Telegram, the leading Democratic paper in the Sixth district, demanded that Tom Taggart, Democratic National chairman, step down and out, in view of the demoralizing work done by the state in Taggart's gambling den at French Lick. In part the Sun-Telegram said:

"Every moment he now poses as a representative of the Democracy of the state and Union is an injustice to the party which gave him the prominence he has had in the political world."

The Evansville Courier, the leading Democratic paper in the state, in January, 1912, had the following to say in a long editorial on Taggart activities:

If Taggart succeeds in naming the state ticket from the chief executive to the judiciary in the Democratic convention on March 21, he will pave the way for his entrance in the United States senate.

But you say, if Ralston is nominated carrying the load of Crawford Fairbanks and Tom Taggart he can't win. There is a chance that he might, and Taggart is taking that chance. If he doesn't Taggart is no worse off than though Boehne were elected by 100,000. The party has never won in Indiana with Taggart in control. Its worse defeat was when he had complete control—in 1904. It was his candidate that was running for the presidency, he was national chairman, the state chairman, W. H. O'Brien, was his own selection.

Nevertheless in all these years of party defeat, Taggart has grown no poorer. His financial condition has not been injured. Why should he worry over the defeat of the Democratic party in Indiana next fall.

Lungs Improve When Taking Nacor

The recovery of Dewitt Perdue, 1615 Eighth Ave., Huntington, W. Va., is the talk of the town. After suffering severely from lung trouble, he now reports he enjoys good health. Giving all credit to Nacor, Mr. Perdue writes:

"I find Nacor to be all that you have recommended it to be. Having had pneumonia several times, my lungs were left in a very bad condition, and my health, generally, run down. So being anxious for my recovery, I tried several remedies that came highly recommended, but Nacor surpassed them all. It is really in a class by itself, and too much can not be said in praise of it." (Signed) Dewitt Perdue.

Let us send you free copy of "Facts About Nacor." Nacor is accomplishing remarkable results in cases of lung trouble, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, impure blood and run-down system. The professional services of our physician are at your disposal free of charge. Write M. L. Haymann, 417 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. (Advertisement.)

Amusements

The Gem offers the five act feature "The Man From Nowhere" for the program tonight. King Baggot is featured. It is a dramatic story of circumstantial evidence and a crime avenged. Tomorrow, matinee and night the big double program will be shown including Mary Fuller in "A Splash of Local Color."

The Princess will show the great emotional actress Nance O'Neil in the drama "Those Who Toil" for the program tonight. The story by Daniel Carson Goodman as transformed into an imposing screen masterpiece under the direction of Edgar Lewis deals intimately with the labor problems of the oil fields. The scene is set in the Pennsylvania oil fields. The actual shooting of a real oil well is one of the big scenes. The theme is described as love, oil and money in equal parts. A particular in which the admirers of Nance O'Neil will find special interest is that in the character of Jane Brett, a daughter of the people, this great emotional actress has been furnished with abundant opportunity to display her powerful style of acting that has made her famous.

PARADES MOVE TO PALACE

(By United Press.) Mexico City, Oct. 27.—General Carranza is expected formally to announce his candidacy for the presidency following a great demonstration that lasted until an early hour today.

Crowds of the first chief's admirers paraded the streets of the capital most of the night. Several processions united in a great parade to the palace where spokesmen pledged Carranza their support and loyalty and asked him to accept the nomination.

2 REPORTS OF SUBMARINES

One Said to Have Been Seen at Norfolk; Another at Newport News

(By United Press.) Washington, Oct. 27.—Unofficial reports reached the navy department this afternoon that a German submarine had arrived at Norfolk, Virginia. The department refused to discuss the report. Private advices from Norfolk said no submarine had been sighted in the harbor and that observers at Cape Henry had sighted none.

Newport, News, Oct. 27.—The report on the water front here that a submarine had passed in the capes could not be verified at 2:45 o'clock today by the weather observer at Cape Henry or by naval observers at Ft. Monroe.

ORDERS TO BE CANCELED IN EVENT OF WILSON'S ELECTION

A number of traveling men have visited the Republican State Headquarters the past week, and several of them have related the same experience that they have had in taking future orders for toys and articles for the holiday trade. Such orders are generally taken with the understanding that they are not to be subject to cancellation. The traveling men report that they have been requested by their customers to take the orders subject to cancellation on November 10th provided Hughes was not elected president, and in case that he is elected then the orders are to stand. The merchants claim that the anticipated close of the European war will cause such a depression in business with Wilson as president that they will take no chances in stocking up goods that are not staple articles.

An enthusiastic crowd of Modern Woodmen greeted State Consul A. C. Osborn at the camp-room last night, and listened to a very interesting and effective talk on the aim and progress of the society. At the close of the address it was decided to hold a class adoption Thanksgiving night, Nov. 30th, and all present pledged themselves to do all they could to get a big class for that occasion. The Modern Woodmen head officers adopted the slogan 100,000 new members for 1916, and up to Oct. 1, 97,776 of that number had been secured, and the head officers now feel that they can make it 125,000 if the membership keeps on hustling as it has the past 9 months.

Ida Tarbell's Interview.

"If I understand myself, I am sincere when I say that I have no personal desire for re-election. It would be an unspeakable relief to be excused, but I am caught in the midst of a process. Everything that I believe in chains me here. Nothing is finished. Is it wise that the country should change now, leaving so much at loose ends?" confided President Wilson in the course of an interview in the current issue of Collier's, with Ida M. Tarbell, social uplifter who is speaking in Indianapolis today to Indiana teachers.

"I hazarded that he stood about where Mr. Lincoln did in August, 1864," writes the interviewer.

"Exactly," the president replied. But Collier's, though it publishes the article, takes occasion in its editorial column to object to the comparison. It might be nauseating, to say the least, to the boys of '61 who weren't "too proud to fight." Anyway, Collier's says:

"And while we are on this subject we must again protest against the comparison of living politicians with Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln is dead and cannot defend himself. The friends of Mr. Wilson who try to draw this likeness must think they are dealing with a public which is suffering from what Admiral Jellicoe might call 'low risibility.' Miss Tarbell ought to know better. If she applied the same tests to the living idols that as a historian she would apply to a dead statesman, she might find a nearer likeness to Mr. Wilson in Franklin Pierce or Millard Fillmore. To see her suggesting the more or less sacrilegious comparison of the signer of the German and American notes with the author of the Second Inaugural makes us think that she is not as frequent a reader as we are of one of the best biographies—the 'Life of Abraham Lincoln,' by Ida M. Tarbell.

"The Democratic party," says Mr. Wilson in the same interview, "is offering a program of principles based on a belief of the control of the common people."

He probably refers to the passage of the Adamson act, which is about as far from the principles referred to as anything could be. But if Mr. Wilson believes it was all right, that settles it in his own estimation. The Chicago Daily News, which espoused his cause in the Baltimore convention and stood by him until recently, in announcing that it cannot stomach him longer, sums up by saying "Mr. Wilson is a scholarly egotist who measures all things by personal standards which are subject to no modification other than those resulting from his confirmed policy of opportunism."

"There is a multitude of experience," said Mr. Wilson to Miss Tarbell, "to prove that the eight-hour day is the only efficient day."

Whether he meant to or not—and it is evidently the case that he does mean to—the president is still practicing deception on the people with reference to the Adamson law. He has been termed an astute politician, but he shows a sad lack of political sagacity in still referring to the 8-hour day principle as being linked with the Adamson law. He is mistaken; the people of the United States are not such a gullible lot.

Anyone who has read anything whatever about the issues of this campaign or have heard any political speeches in which an attempt was made to explain the railroad workers will that was jammed down the throat of congress, knows that the Adamson law merely fixes the method for measuring compensation and does not fix the eight-hour day for railway trainmen. Even Senator Kern admitted in a speech day before yesterday that it was not an eight-hour day law.

"I am not willing to do anything that is inconsistent with my position as a president. I do not believe that the people of this country want their president on the stump, working for his own interests. I am not willing to do anything that they would feel is bad taste in a president. I am inclined to think that bad taste is bad politics," said the president.

Even yet Mr. Wilson made a couple of speeches in Cincinnati yesterday. A delegation journeys to Shadow Lawn tomorrow to hear a speech by the president. Certainly he must be making political speeches in his own interests. If not, why make speeches? They contribute nothing to the health, wealth or happiness of the country. And Mr. Wilson says bad taste is bad politics and stumping is bad taste. You may draw what conclusions you please, but it appears to us that Mr. Wilson is playing politics, as he plainly says, in his own interests, by staying off the stump—his idea of staying off—and not, as he says because he thinks it is the people's wish.

Wont Disavow Baker.

President Wilson has intimated to the correspondents at Shadow Lawn that he will not disavow Secretary Baker's slander of the Revolutionary heroes. It is his present purpose to ignore all the indignation which Mr. Baker has aroused. Why he takes this stand he does not explain, but it is generally suspected that he is afraid Carranza would be annoyed if he should say anything indicating that he regarded the Revolutionary heroes as more worthy of admiration and respect than the cutthroats and bandits who compose the revolutionary army of Mexico, if such an aggregation of outlaws may be termed an army.

WOODROW WILSON

Keeping Out of War.

Mr. Wilson's contention that he alone has kept this country out of war and that unless he is re-elected the nation will be plunged into war has raised an interesting question as to how, without Mr. Wilson's little neutral nations of Europe have been kept out of war. There is little Switzerland, surrounded by the belligerents, Holland and Denmark in an almost similar position. Sweden and Norway in close proximity, and Spain adjoining France and with naval engagements taking place right off her shores. Who, or what, kept them out of war? How did they survive and keep the peace without a Woodrow Wilson? Of course it might be suggested that they have been kept out of war by the fact that the belligerents had their hands full and no one of them wanted to increase the number of its enemies. But that argument would apply equally to the United States and would support the contention of Senator Root, that never in the history of the United States has it been easier to keep out of war than during the European conflict, and that it is a wicked argument because it robs Mr. Wilson of his only claim to re-election.

The issue is rapidly narrowing down to whether the American people want for president a man of words, or a man of his words.

CAMPAIGN SHRAPNEL

If President Wilson postpones his Thanksgiving Proclamation until after the election it is going to be a rather dismal document.

A war munitions prosperity is like Jonah's gourd. It grew up in night and it will perish in a night. And woe betide us if, when it withers, we have not above us a protective tariff roof to save us from the withering sun of foreign competition.

By the way, the Washington administration doesn't seem to be making much headway with that loan to Carranza. Possibly, however our bankers are selfish enough to want payment guaranteed.

Someone seems to have put the lid on Gompers. He emitted just one wail against Carranza's ruthless warfare against the trade unionists of Mexico and then subsided. It is readily conceivable, however, that Mr. Gompers would not be silent now were a republican administration in power and coddling a monster of Carranza's calibre.

As yet there has been no report to the effect that Postmaster General Burleson has sold that stock he owns in that convict labor plantation in Texas. However, we have his word for it that he is labor's "trooly loil" friend.

President Wilson's devotion to the principle of Pitless Publicity is again demonstrated by his refusal to allow the city service records of the government to be examined for infractions of the civil service law.

The feature of the present campaign seems to be the low visibility of a certain William J. Bryan.

The Washington administration assures us that "the people of Northern Mexico are gradually quieting down." And in confirmation of this claim comes the story that more than two thousand have recently died of starvation in the once prosperous province of Zacatecas.

As if the difference between Charles E. Hughes and Woodrow Wilson were not enough to incline all think-

Mrs. Linnie Belcher Feels Like a New Woman Since Taking Tanlac

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 26.—"I have tried many medicines during the last fifteen years, but Tanlac is the first one that has given me relief from my troubles," Mrs. Linnie Belcher, a well known resident of this city, who lives at 214 West Seventh street, said here recently.

"I had stomach trouble," Mrs. Belcher continued. "I also was very nervous. I suffered frequently from attacks of dizziness. My stomach usually was in a gaseous condition and my appetite was poor."

"Since taking Tanlac the food I eat is digesting better than for years. The spells of dizziness are a thing of the past. I certainly feel like a new woman and I can do my work better and a lot easier."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, poor circulation, general depression and is a general tonic for weak people. Tanlac is now sold exclusively in Rushville at E. E. Wolcott's drug store; in Arlington at Mrs. L. T. Davis's; in Carthage at J. H. McCarthy & Sons, and in Milroy at Barton & Sheppard's.—(Adv.)

Current Comments

Source of Mexican Policy.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"To Secretary of War Baker we owe an important contribution to the campaign."

"If our readers will ponder it they will find themselves at the source of the whole error of the Wilson-Bryan policy in Mexico."

"Mr. Baker informs the world that 'Washington's soldiers at Valley Forge' were just as bad characters as the Mexican 'revolutionists.'"

"We do not hold the illusion that every man in Washington's army was a hero and a saint. The Tribune has been abused for pointing out the fact that the revolutionary army was full of disorder, mutiny, incompetence, want of patriotism, etc. We have shown how Washington's great soul was tried by the conditions he had to deal with."

"The Wilson administration apparently knows nothing of what the Mexican people are, and refuses to know. Mr. Wilson's section of the country refuses to permit the American Negro to exercise his legal right of franchise. But he and his advisers are endowing the Mexican Indian with all the capacity for self government which the American colonial had developed through centuries of political progress."

"Mr. Baker's parallel between the hordes of peons and the American colonials is itself a sentimental stupidity without parallel, except perhaps in the doctrinairism of Bryan and his school of pro-Philippinists. No man who has seen the Mexican quasi-serf at home, no man who has read Mexican history, no man who brings a reasonable measure of common sense to bear upon an informed consideration of the historic, political, social, and religious backgrounds of the American colonial and the Mexican Indian would utter the folly of which this cabinet minister is guilty."

"Yet Mr. Baker's folly is that which has given us the greater folly of the Wilson-Bryan policy, a policy with no knowledge of the controlling facts and no respect for them."

Mr. Baker and his associates may believe that Carranza is a Washington, Zapata an Israel Putnam, Villa a Light Horse Harry Lee. He may believe their followers fit for comparison with the men who in the tradition of Runnymede fought at Lexington, suffered at Valley Forge and triumphed at Yorktown. But, so believing, they are unfit to govern this nation builded upon eight centuries of steady development in self-government."

"Mr. Baker has given us a complete explanation of the Mexican policy of this astonishing administration and we hope his foolish words may be its ironic epitaph."

The Dodge

like the Maxwell and Studebaker is manufactured entirely by its own Company.

Dodge Brothers manufacture their own car in a factory with 24 acres of floor space.

They are bringing to bear upon it everything that tends to produce value—extraordinary experience; immense production capacity; complete financial independence; and that rigid insistence upon unerring accuracy which is recognized as the chief characteristic of all Dodge Brothers work.

Not a detail of the car was determined simply by precedent or custom—the one that was to see how much Dodge Brothers could give. Some lesser steel might have been used, but they used Chrome Vanadium. Some cheaper bearings might have been used, but they used Timken Bearings throughout.

SOCIETY

Mrs. James H. Baldwin is entertaining several friends informally at cards this evening at her home in North Perkins street.

The members of the Psi Iota Xi sorority will be entertained on Tuesday evening by the Misses Leah Flint and Belma Clark at the home of Miss Clark in North Sexton street. Every member is urged to be present.

Mrs. S. G. Huntington, as treasurer of the association, and Mrs. Fred Arbuckle as secretary of literature are taking a prominent part in the meeting of the missionary association being held at the Lewis Creek church, south of Shelbyville, today. Twenty-eight societies belong to the Flatbrook district and an excellent program was given, aside from the business which was brought up.

The party given at the K. of C. hall last evening by the members of the Knights of Columbus for their lady friends proved to be all that was expected in the regard to the good time. The seventy-five guests played various games of cards during the first part of the evening. Later, they entered into the informal program of dances for which lively music was furnished by Miss Marie McKee at the piano.

At the pretty country home of Miss Grace Buell northeast of the city, the members of the Thursday Afternoon Card Club spent a pleasant period yesterday afternoon. With an extra table in play, Miss Buell entertained twelve guests in all, who after the card games were served with a tempting one course luncheon. Mrs. Forrest Remsburg of Raton, N. M., was among the guests. The next meeting of the club will be with Miss Bertha Helm.

The most elaborate event in the social calendar of the Psi Iota Xi sorority will be given in Indianapolis, Saturday, November 4th when each chapter will be represented at the annual luncheon. The affair is in charge of the Indianapolis chapter of the sorority. A large number from the local chapter is planning to attend as well as from the other chapters. The luncheon at the Claypool is to be followed by a matinee party at the English to see Elsie Ferguson in "Shirley Kaye."

The ladies attending the all day meeting of the Willing Workers of the Christian church of Orange at the home of Mrs. H. G. Pyke near Glenwood Wednesday were Mrs. Ralph Bowen, Mrs. N. F. Bowen, Mrs. Ross Friend and daughter, Irene, Mrs. John Dawson, Mrs. Charles Medd, Mrs. W. R. Phillips, Mrs. Bert Moore, Mrs. Ed McClanahan, Mrs. Frank Crist, Mrs. Bertha Long, Mrs. Ozro Stevens, Mrs. Marian Russell, Mrs. Richard Gray, Mrs. C. E. Clifford and two guests, Mrs. Jacob Hitchell and Mrs. Chris Rowe.

Local members of the Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity are looking forward to the annual mid-winter dance for members of all chapters of the fraternity to be given in the Riley room at the Claypool during the holidays, December 28th. It is to be a beautiful party, the grand march to begin at 8:30 o'clock. Members of the committee having charge of the dance are Montgomery Purviance of Huntington, Joseph Becowitz of Bloomington, William Zehner of Tipton, David Jennings of Newcastle, and Kenneth Sullivan of Alexandria.

The Royal Neighbors will have a call meeting Monday night. Every member is urged to attend.

The intermediate department of the United Presbyterian Sunday school is giving a masked Halloween social this evening at the church. All the church members are invited and a pleasant time is anticipated.

The teachers of the primary and beginners classes of the Main Street Christian Sunday school will give a Halloween social at the church Monday afternoon, from 3:30 until 5. All children under 9 years are invited to attend.

A Halloween party will be given tomorrow evening by the members of the Priscilla Art Club at the home of Miss Bessie Knotts of Falmouth. Each member has the privilege of inviting three guests and about 50 are expected to be present for the pitch-in supper and party which is to follow.

The dinner party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Clark today was in honor of several relatives from a distance who are visiting here. A bountiful three course dinner was served and a delightful day spent by the guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Thompson and daughter, Florence, of Wabash, Eldervet Thompson of Lafontaine, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Frazee, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Humes and Mrs. Elizabeth Humes.

About 40 couples attended the first of the dancing parties to be given by the Knights of Pythias in their hall this season, last evening. It was an informal and very delightful party, the guests entering into the program of dances with their usual spirit of sociability. Sherman's four piece orchestra, consisting of piano, saxophone, banjo and traps, furnished lively music. The next dance of the kind will be given two weeks from last evening. The committee in charge of these dances is composed of Frank Priest, Frank Flint, and John Worthington. Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood and Mrs. Lev Wallace of Detroit, Mich., were among the guests.

The meeting of the Happy-Go-Lucky club held with Mrs. O. J. Myers at her country home south of the city yesterday was in the form of a dinner party. The guests were seated at a long table in the dining room where the elegant two course repast was served. A social afternoon together completed the delightful meeting for the members who were Mrs. O. E. Humes, Mrs. John H. Frazee, Mrs. Louis M. Clark, Mrs. William Alexander, Miss Emma Blackledge, Mrs. John D. Megee, Mrs. Charles Mauzy, Mrs. Bert Norris, Mrs. George Looney, Mrs. Albert Winship and as guests, Miss Alice Norris and Mrs. Walter Norris. Mrs. Bert Norris will entertain the ladies at their next meeting which will be in two weeks.

Highlights on Talks by Miss Garvin

One half teaspoonful of baking powder in meringue will keep it from falling.

Cook meringue thoroughly with slow fire and brown with quick one. It will not fall then.

Add pinch of salt to cocoa or coffee.

Stick fork in edge, not middle, of steak when turning it. Never put meat in a cold skillet.

Use sour milk when possible. It is more economical and digestible.

Do not taste the cooking with the stirring spoon. Put the sample in a tasting spoon. It is just as easy when you have the habit.

As often as possible, have numbers on the menu that do not demand all your attention just before serving the meal.

Cook chocolate in any article thoroughly until the starch grains are broken down.

Economy does not always mean cheap materials, but depends on the value of your time and fuel as well.

Flour should be sifted twice for baking, once before measuring, and once afterwards with the baking powder.

The longer you whip cream, the greater the bulk, for in proportion to the amount you beat is the amount of air taken up in the cream.

When necessary to use water instead of milk or lard instead of butter, do not tell it and it will not be noticed.

WOMEN IN THE CAMPAIGN

When Charles Evans Hughes moves into a big white house next March, he will have to admit that the women had just a little share in securing his new residence for him. They are coming out strong for the republican candidate, in all states of the union, even in Indiana, where they are not supposed to have a word to say on political matters. There wouldn't be any use, of course in scheduling any speakers for Indiana, since the best vote the women have is the wee bit of influence they may perhaps be able to exert over Friend Husband's ballot.

But Indiana women can go outside the state to sway their audiences in favor of the only candidate, and that's exactly what they are doing. Miss Mary Hannah Knott, of Crawfordsville, a well-known newspaper writer and lecturer, has been engaged by the Western branch of the national republican campaign committee at Chicago to take part in campaign work in the suffrage states, and is now on a speaking tour, covering Colorado, California and Oregon. There was no doubt of the sentiment of Indianapolis women, after Mr. Hughes' visit there, when they marched 1,000 strong, to hear him speak.

Another worker for the good cause is Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissavain one of the best known of the suffrage leaders, who started October 3 for a month's speaking tour through all the suffrage states. Her special point is opposition to President Wilson's re-election.

A unique train, which goes by the name of the Hughes woman's special train, is touring the continent, stopping at all large cities, and meeting the prominent women of the communities, to arouse their interest and enlist them in the work.

It must be the well known intuition which lines up the women on the right side of the fence. They want to be on the band wagon in November.

TRIES TO MAKE COFFEE CLEAR AND HOPES IT WILL PERCOLATE

Margaret Mason, on tour of South America, finds that Moco and Java, the justly celebrated brand, comes off the same father and mother bush, the only difference being that one is the runt and the other is the perfect grain. As you sip U. S. A., Turkish or French coffee, you may be sure it has a Brazilian past.

(Written for United Press.)

BY MARGARET MASON.

Sure Mocha and Java, well mixed, and ground fine

Is Coffee I always have ordered for mine,

My Moher before me, my Grandmother too

Have always insisted on this blended brew,

But now I must shatter traditions, I see,

For Mocha and Java I've picked from one tree.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 1.—(By Mail)—This certainly is going to be an awful blow to the domestic coffee connoisseurs. The epicures who smack their lips and extol the elusive flavor of the Java as it subtly intermingles with the Mocha.

Indeed it furnished me coffee grounds for surprise when I found the Mocha and Java not only growing on the same family tree but even on the same branch of the family.

The best way to settle the coffee question is to take a night's train trip from Rio to Sao Paulo. The state of Sao Paulo is the greatest coffee growing country in the world. It's capital, city of Sao Paulo, is justly dubbed the "Chicago of South America." A two hours run by train brings us to the little town of Campinas right out in the midst of the open rolling coffee country.

The "King" of Campinas himself took us by auto out through the coffee plantations. He is a King by my own dubbing. This successful North American from Lawrence, Kansas, chose to make light of my appellation just as he chose to make light of Campinas. You see he controls the electric light plant and the traction line in Campinas, as well as in thirteen other small Brazilian towns. Surely a neat little crown of incandescent bulbs is not amiss above his brow.

I've heard of people painting the town red but they would be helpless to incarnadine further the country of Sao Paulo. All the soil is of a marvelous redness shading to vivid crimson and rose. With its billowing red hills it is startlingly reminiscent of San Diego County, California. Showing a Hibernian tendency these hills all have the green of the coffee trees above the red soil. As far as the eye can see the coffee plantations stretch away into the distance. Some plantations boast of over a million trees. To speak of coffee trees is very misleading. In reality they are like nothing so much as big lilac bushes except that the leaves are smaller. The coffee berry itself looks like a cherry turning from green to a bright cherry red through its different stages of ripeness. Unlike the cherry, however the coffee berry grows in clusters, interspersed with leaves, closely fastened, without stems to branches of the tree. It has little pulp and no juice and the coffee beans proper form the heart of the berry like a cherry pit split into halves.

And here is where the difference between the Mocha and Java comes in. Not being a prize student of botany I don't know the technical terms but something happens to the stamen of some coffee blossoms so that they make stunted beans and round of shape which are called Java while the perfect Mocha beans are large and oval in contour. So it is just the subtle difference in their shapes you taste when they are all ground up together.

In coffee picking time even the littlest tots help in the harvest. Everybody works, even father. The picking consists in stripping all the berries off right down the branch. As the leaves get in somewhat on the general strip, after the harvest, the poor old coffee tree looks a bit denuded.

The berries are striped off and allowed to fall on the ground where they are raked up and carried away in baskets.

The next step is to spread them out on an open cement court to dry in the sun.

When the berries are all shriveled and dried to the consistency of husks they are put through successive machines that husk them and separate the Mocha beans from the Java. They finally land in sacks ready to be shipped down to Santos and exported.

As you sip your Turkish, French or, U. S. A., coffee you may be almost sure it has a Brazilian past. For it is only by the different degrees and processes of roasting in the different countries to which it is sent that the good old native Brazilian bean becomes disguised as a terrible Turk or in true Parisian manner, starts a liaison with chicoree and becomes "cafe."

I have tried to make this coffee clear for you, to show you just where your coffee's bean. I hope it all has percolated.

The Loyal Daughters were very successful at their parcel post sale and penny supper Wednesday evening, the total amount taken in being about $125.

The J. H. Scholl Sunday school class of the St. Paul's M. E. church will hold an exchange and parcel post sale tomorrow in the room formerly occupied by the Mulno store in West Second street.

Plants in the House

Through the winter the housewife, if she cares to take the necessary trouble, may have compensation for the lack of her outdoor garden by growing various plant in window boxes or pots in the house. For most part she will have to content herself with foliage, though she may be able to coax a few flowers to bloom. The following suggestions for preparations for the indoor garden and for caring for it later are made by specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

If an indoor window box is decided upon, a good depth for it is about 8 inches. The bottom of the box should be covered with stones and broken pottery for drainage. This should be covered with a layer of moss to prevent the soil from working down and clogging the drainage space. The drainage and moss should take up together about 2 inches. The greater the body of soil above the moss the more uniformly moist it may be kept. The soil should fall to fill the box by from 1 1/2 to 2 inches.

The indoor window box should be as long as the window is wide, and to get as much light as possible it should be level with the window sill. It may be placed either on brackets, a table, or legs permanently fastened to it. A hole or holes should be placed beneath to catch drainage water.

The top of the soil should be allowed to become dry occasionally. The results of watering should be closely observed and the supply regulated according to needs. Watering may be necessary in sun-shiny weather, especially toward spring, every day or at least every other day. In cloudy and midwinter weather it will not be necessary to water more often than once a week. In general it is better to water lightly and frequently than heavily and infrequently, although just the reverse is considered best when watering is done out of doors in summer.

Only plants of the same general character should be placed in window boxes, since plants of different kinds require different treatment. Begonias are about the only plants that may be expected to flower in a window box. For the most part foliage alone must be depended upon as the contribution of the indoor plants which may be grown for foliage for window boxes are ferns, geraniums, Kenilworth ivy, smilax, and aspidistra. The latter plant is especially valuable as a window box plant as it will thrive in spite of considerable neglect, drought and dust.

New York, Oct. 27.—Yale, Harvard and Princeton, the "big three" of the eastern football tangle, will go into the crucial points of their 1916 careers tomorrow. Yale is due to show its strength to the strong Washington and Jefferson team; Harvard must tackle Cornell, and Princeton will be willing to call it a real day's work if the Tigers are able to take a fall out of Dartmouth.

Inter-sectional battles of more or less importance are found on the day's calendar, with Indiana meeting Tufts, that surprising bunch of veteran eastern warriors, in Indianapolis. It will be the second big meeting between eastern and western eleven, Colgate having already lowered the colors of the Illinois huskies. Illinois is considered stronger than Indiana, so Tufts should have little trouble in downing Indiana.

The Oregon Aggies and Michigan Aggies will be at it in East Lansing at the same time Michigan is playing her big battle of the year, the contest with Syracuse.

WHEAT GOING UP, TOO.
(By United Press.)

Edmonton, Alt., Oct. 27.—C. S. Noble, pioneer farmer of the Claresholm district, today had official award from the Alberta government, of the world's record for raising wheat. His 1,000 acre field averaged 52 bushels to the acre. This is one bushel higher than the previous world's record, held in Polouse county, Washington, in the United States. The grain Noble says, will grade No. 1 hard.

NEUTRALITY IS BEING DEFENDED

Dutch Government is Ready to Fight Either Teutons or Allies For Any Break.

IS BUILDING GREAT NAVY

Is Not Tempting Fate But Country Really Means Business—Queen Runs Government.

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

The Hague, Oct. 1.—(By Mail)—The Dutch government is ready to go to war any moment to protect Holland's neutrality. Dutch officials admit it.

Holland is not tempting Fate, though. Her diplomats and influential newspapers are doing their best to keep her from any combination of circumstances that might force her to side with one belligerent or the other in the war.

Dutch officials candidly admit they will fight England for any unneutral act against or upon Dutch soil; and that the same thing goes for Germany. Holland will fight her for the same reasons and just as quickly.

Holland is devoting as much time, material and energy to the upbuilding of her army as she is to the development of her navy.

Today it is the Queen who is the "woman of the hour" and the real leader of the government of Holland.

Every morning at 6:30 she is at her desk and she works all day. She attends every ministerial council and is said to have written the cleverest parts of many of Holland's protest notes to both Great Britain and Germany.

Holland, as is well known, is building a great many submarines. A few days ago a new one was launched and the Queen went out in it for half an hour, traveling part of the time under water. The Queen observes strict neutrality in her own household. Her husband, Prince Henry, was a German prince from Meckenburg, so there is naturally some feeling among pro-Ally Dutch about this. His loyalty to Holland is not questioned but in order not to have him suspected in any way he is told none of the secrets of state. He is made chief of the Red Cross so he can have something to do, but in this work he is subject to the orders of General Schneider, chief of the General Staff.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Stand up straight men, swing your legs about—first one, then the other—look at 'em and then glorify the memory of the man who invented trousers, pantaloons or just plain pants.

It happened just 100 years ago today. A chap whose name is long since dust grew tired of breeches with their encumbering snugness and evolved the forerunner of the present style of trousers.

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis—

And They Voted Yes

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend Senreco as the best." "Makes the teeth glisten and is free from injurious ingredients, including pumice and grit." "I am indeed glad to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulations you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)

With such endorsements from the men who know; why not go to your dealer today and get a tube of SENRECO -- 25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay.

A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 4c in stamps. The Sentinal Remedies Co., Inc. Dept. B, Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.

ed the part of the noble peacemaker he would not have done this and at the same time would have sent out message stating that no arms could be shipped to Europe. Then he would have been the peacemaker.

"But still they tell you, 'he has kept us out of war.' Again I ask you what war he kept us out of? We did not want to fight Germany. Germany did not want to fight us. We did not want to fight England or France or Russia. And they did not want to fight us. Has there not always been a tie of friendship between this country and France. Did they not give us Lafayette and did they not buy our bonds at a time when we were fighting for our liberty?"

"The other day while I was in a restaurant, two of our democratic friends were discussing what a great president we had because he had kept us out of war. Their praise was warm and between the two they almost formed a mutual admiration society. Nearly was a woman in deep mourning. When the conversation between the two men relaxed a little she arose and went to their table. Begging their pardon she stated that she had overheard their conversation, and felt compelled to tell them something. She said 'you see my mourning. I lost a son on the border. If that isn't war what is war? The two men had nothing more to say about 'he kept us out of war.' Think of the many mothers in this country that have lost sons in the same way and do you think they will tell you it was not war?"

"If we did not have war what do you call it when we captured Vera Cruz? We tried to make Heurta salute the flag and he didn't do it. I don't blame him. Wilson did not recognize him as president of Mexico and since he wasn't the president of Mexico why should he salute

the flag. Then they have another slogan about being too proud to fight. Where would and I be tonight my colored brethren if the Boys in Blue had been to proud to fight?"

Mr. Brewer then told what he termed mistreatment of colored troops by President Wilson in Mexico and declared that the twenty colored soldiers were buried in Arlington cemetery without any ceremony, showing the democratic party was not fair to the negro. "You may have heard it said that the negroes in Indianapolis were going to vote for Tom Taggart. This is not true. He stands for the same things that the democratic party stands for and you know this party has never been your friend."

In closing he paid a tribute to James E. Watson, declaring that he was the "greatest American statesman today and was worth more than the entire party in his service to the country."

The colored drum corps and glee club furnished the music for the meeting.

Princeton—A. F. Nelson, state veterinarian tonight will address the district veterinarians organization, which was recently formed.

A Clear Complexion

Most every woman wants a nice, clear complexion, and can have it at a trifling cost. Constipation in women is increasing to an alarming extent, and this causes poor circulation which accounts for yellow, muddy, pimply complexions which so many women are trying to overcome.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets is the one dependable remedy for bad complexions. They act on the liver and bowels like calomel, yet have no dangerous after-effect. They assist nature to throw off the impurities that get into the blood. They will surely clear up, even the most distressing condition quickly and tone up the entire system, giving a pure, fresh, ruddy skin. They are absolutely pure—easy to take and correct constipation. They act quickly, cleanse and purify—and make you feel fine. Start treatment now. Get a box from any druggist—10c and 25c.

LONDON YANKEES
BUM PLAYERS

Breezy English Sport Writer Describes How Canadian Baseball Team Defeated Them.

THE SCORE TO BE 9 TO 1

"Canadian Thrower Bowled Very Well," Writes English Chap
With Knowledge of Game.

BY J. W. PEGLER.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Oct. 1.—(By Mail)—"I learn," wrote a breezy English sport writer, "that the Canadian Soldiers'
Baseball Nine defeated the London
American Club by nine scores to one in a match last Saturday at Queens' club."

In the King's English, that's about what happened. The journalist with the five-gallon hat had to rush to catch his Monday sporting extra so his story was kind of brief. He missed a few details such as the American catchers skill—work in throwing to second with a runner on third and none out. He also overlooked the fact that a gent in a heli-otrope shirt pitched big league ball
for the star-spangled troupe while his co-called supporters unravelled
an ivory repertoire.

"The match," says the liting account," was replete with exciting incidents and fraught throughout with keen, though quite amiable rivalry.
The Canadian thrower bowled very well indeed."

O, 'ell, yes; he bowled jolly well.
The Canadian strikers batted well,
too, and the chap with the odd-looking mask played a ripping game as wicket keeper.

The Americans played ball until the third inning. After that, they never had a chance. And a fading sun's last glimpse saw the Saskatoon farmers still running hog-wild
on the paths while sundry Americans threw the ball all over the park.

They went into the third with the count knotted, one and one. Rolands, the soldiers' short-stop, worked a pass and the boys from the trenches yipped loose with a vocal barrage. As the echo died away the Americans' nanny was seen streaking across the field and out of the park through the free gate.

The heliotrope shirt wound up with a Big Ben movement, convulsed and shot the ball to first just as Rolands led off for second. There was a man at first with a glove and uniform but he didn't seem to belong to the club. Anyway he was too proud to stop the throw and the pill gamboled under the club-house steps. Rolands took second and the Canadians began a campaign of frightfulness. The next dumped one in front of the plate and was safe while Neargard, the chap with the odd mask, fondled the ball. A bomber named Doyle fanned. A pitched ball went through Neargard and Ro-lands scored. Other batters came up and got on through devious means, though no one got a hit. Even the official scorer lost heart and hope in the ensuing moments. Everyone but the runners took a hand in throwing the ball and everyone booted it. Three runs went in before it was over and not a hit had been made.

The rest of the game was like that.
Of course some of the innings were different because the Yanks were worse in some spots than in others.
And all the while a human fringe of khaki and blue, Canadian soldiers waiting for the front and those recovering from wounds, kept up a world's series of noise. When they weren't riding Van Nais, the American pitcher, they kidded Gerton and bag-pipes of the Scots, flung creepy music all over the place. A set of drums gave base to the din and and improvised megaphone carried delicate compliments to American ears.

Somebody said the score was nine
to one when it was all over and no
one cared enough about it to quarrel. Van Nais lost an uphill fight far from the glades of his native Brooklyn, and allowed only seven hits at that. He walked a few men;
say others, but why not when they'd get on on the third strike even if he did strike them out.

But it was all a joke and if anybody won money he probably gave it to the Canadian wounded whose wives and children got the state receipts. The attendance was the best baseball crowd London has had this year.

The score: Canadians, 9-7-3. Americans, 1-6-8.

There were more American errors than the final shows. The scorer got tired in the fourth inning and began counting them by twos.

SPARROW STEALS LETTERS.

(By United Press.)

Nashville, Ind., Oct. 27.—Mart
Lucas, a "customer" on C. M. Calvin's rural route, tried for several days to catch a "thief" who had been stealing letters from his mail
box. Several times letters had been placed in the box which Lucas had not received. Finally Lucas hid behind a tree when the mail carrier placed a letter in the box. After watching awhile, a sparrow flew into the box and came out with the letter in its beak. It flew to the barn where the missing letters were found.

Reasons Why Hughes Should Be Elected

BECAUSE he stands for Protection, Prosperity, Preparedness and Patriotism.

BECAUSE he will not permit partisanship to triumph over Patriotism.

BECAUSE his speech of acceptance expresses his desire to co-operate with labor for its advantage, not to exploit it for his own.

BECAUSE he will command the respect of Europe and Asia and win the friendship of Latin-America.

BECAUSE he will never by proclamation deny the right of Americans to pursue their business in other lands under the protection of the American flag.

BECAUSE he will not repudiate the American flag in any land.

BECAUSE he will not put action into words, but words into action.

BECAUSE, as Theodore Roosevelt well says, he has high sentiments of justice and dignity, is upright and straightforward, is an incontestable master of judicial matters, and always translates his words into deeds.

BECAUSE he is a strong, sure, courageous man, with a clear-cut program before him and with the courage, intelligence and determination to carry it out and bring to our country self-respecting peace and world-wide respect.

BECAUSE as Governor of New York he has already proved that he dared to do the right thing, and is prepared to further do and dare when called into a wider field.

BECAUSE he is not a dreamer and not a quitter.

BECAUSE he is a firm friend of preparedness for the United States and not for preparedness through political expediency.

BECAUSE he will not burden us with war taxes in time of peace.

BECAUSE we need a tariff not founded upon free trade, nor for "revenue only," but to protect American labor and American industry from the deadly competition of the foreigner.

BECAUSE he is a red-blooded American. His policy will be "America first, America efficient."

BECAUSE he can be depended upon to keep platform pledges.

BECAUSE he will protect this country against being flooded with the cheap manufactures of Europe after the war.

BECAUSE he is the chosen head of a party which has long fathered all great constructive legislation which experience has proved to be wise and which has invariably been opposed by the Democratic party.

BECAUSE a business man is going to be especially needed in the next few years. In consequence of the European war a tremendous readjustment of the world's business is ahead. The United States must be economically prepared. It must not, as now, be left defenseless. It must not have a President with an untrained business mind, ever changing. Mr. Hughes made a remarkable record as a business Governor of New York. He has extraordinary ability to see all sides of a question. Not from him, as from Wilson, will be heard any declaration that he will hang business men "high as Haman" if they do not agree with him.

BECAUSE he is a man of forward vision, of practicability and firmness, not a mere rhetorician and theorist.

BECAUSE he stands for the protection of American lives and property abroad as well as at home.

BECAUSE through him the whole nation will be in the Government. It will not be ruled by one section, nor by one man.

BECAUSE he is for an effective, not an unsound and sham system of rural credits to help the farmer and for a wise conservation of natural resources.

BECAUSE he is for a Federal workingmen's compensation law suitable for the employees of the Government and those employees engaged in interstate commerce and subject to the hazard of injury.

BECAUSE he favors investigating before legislating.

Reasons Why Wilson Should Be Defeated

BECAUSE, to cite Representative Fitzgerald, Democratic Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House, during his administration the Democratic Congress has been the most extravagant that has ever met in the capital.

BECAUSE he insists on his shipping bill—an indefensible piece of folly which would destroy such merchant marine as we now have.

BECAUSE, although he says "he kept us out of war," the story of Mexico, San Domingo and Hayti refutes him.

BECAUSE he runs anti-climaxes. He marches in only to march out again.

BECAUSE he signed the seamen's bill, which practically has wiped out shipping on the Pacific Coast.

BECAUSE he attempted to scuttle from the Philippines and was defeated only by twenty patriotic Democrats who voted with the Republicans of the House.

BECAUSE he appointed as Secretary of State William J. Bryan after denouncing him as a pest who should be "knocked into a cocked hat."

BECAUSE he made possible Villa, murderer of men and despoiler of women, and Carranza, the fatuous and futile "First Chief."

BECAUSE Wilson's text book statesmanship and grape-juice diplomacy have made the United States an international laughing stock.

BECAUSE he appointed "deserving Democrats" to the diplomatic corps, displacing experienced men at a time when it was essential to the foreign trade and honor of the United States to retain competent, experienced men.

BECAUSE he is incompetent to lead, and veers like a weather vane whenever a zephyr of public opinion seems to blow against him.

BECAUSE his "one-track mind" has too many turn-tables.

BECAUSE he lifted the embargo of arms so that the Mexican desperadoes have used American ammunition to murder American soldiers and civilians.

BECAUSE the promised "pitiless publicity" has been replaced by private, special, secret negotiations by personal agents and representatives appointed by President Wilson without "the advice and consent of the Senate."

BECAUSE he reverses himself so rapidly that the entire country is seasick from the motion.

BECAUSE he is for free trade, direct taxes and an empty treasury—the same old Democratic trinity.

BECAUSE if the Payne-Aldrich law had been in operation in the last nine months of 1915 we would have collected $91,656,161 more than we did under the Underwood law. It would have met the treasury deficits and have avoided war taxes. The foreigner selling in our market got the entire benefit of the $91,656,161.

BECAUSE during the first ten months of the Wilson-Underwood law there were more unemployed being fed by charity than during any ten months in our history, excepting under the Wilson-Gorman act.

BECAUSE of his inconsistency on the immigration bill. In his "History of the American People," vol. 5, p. 213, he wrote: "The Chinese were more to be desired as workmen, if not as citizens, than most of the coarse crew that came crowding in every year at the Eastern ports."

BECAUSE he has not reduced, as he promised, the high cost of living, but has actually made it higher.

BECAUSE he was pledged to a single term by the Baltimore convention, but before the type was cold he was building up his fences for another.

BECAUSE, although posing as an advocate of civil service, every act of his as President in connection with civil service has been adverse to its principles, obstructive and destructive of its bona-fide practice.

Democratic Prosperity In 1914

Below is a sample of the sort of news that was appearing in the papers during the months when Mr. Wilson and his party were trying to produce prosperity without the assistance of munitions contracts. The date is January 1, 1914.

MARCHING IDLE ARMY CRIED FOR FOOD UPON STROKE OF NEW YEAR

Five Hundred Men Paraded the Streets of Chicago.

"You Are Drunk and We Are Hungry," They Shouted.

Broke Windows and Punctured Tires of Automobiles.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH.) CHICAGO, January 1.—Entering restaurants and demanding food, breaking windows, and puncturing automobile tires, a crowd of nearly 500 unemployed men early this morning marched through Chicago's business district. They furnished a strange contrast to New Year revelers who were leaving the cafes and restaurants.

The men marched in State street, four abreast, carrying a banner which read: "We demand work, not charity." The army halted street cars and cried to passengers that they wanted work. At Van Buren street the police halted the marchers, but they soon reformed their line farther down the street.

"Hey, you bums, what's up?" shouted a pedestrian from the curb. "You are drunk and we are hungry," replied one of the leaders. The band finally broke up into small groups.

James E. Watson said at Richmond that Shadow Lawn was a very appropriate term for the place where President Wilson is now staying, "because the shadows are lengthening." The Indianapolis Star said yesterday that Shadow Lawn was a good place for Woodrow to go into eclipse after Nov. 7. At any rate, things already look dim in shadows, whether they be lawns or whatnot.

President Wilson forced the abolition of the tariff commission by President Taft. Now he espousing a tariff commission with all the zeal of a new convert. It is a question of whether the president's insincerity is ingrained or ingrowing.

What War Was It Mr. Wilson Kept Us Out Of?

In an address to Congress, President Wilson himself referred to the European war as "a war with which we have nothing to do, a war whose causes do not touch us." So how could he keep us out of a war with which we have nothing to do and whose causes do not touch us?

"HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

(Des Moines Leader and Register)

Did He Keep Us Out of War with Mexico?

According to war department records HE DID NOT. During the term of President Wilson more Americans have been killed by Mexicans, and more American property destroyed by Mexicans, than were killed or destroyed by Spaniards during the Spanish-American war. So if Mr. Wilson did not keep us out of war with Europe or out of conflict with Mexico, WHAT WAR DID HE KEEP US OUT OF?

"HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR"

(Chicago Tribune)

"He Didn't Burn the White House"

"The campaign slogan that 'the administration has kept us out of war' has no more argument in its favor than to say that the administration ought to be kept in power because the President did not burn down the White House."—Albert J. Beveridge, at Chicago, Oct. 5.

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

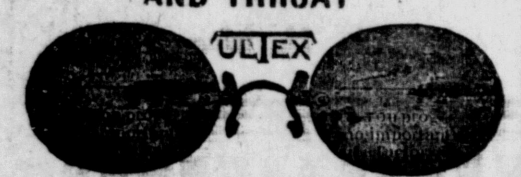

IN BED MOST OF TIME
Her Health Restored by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana. — "My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy." — Mrs. Wm. Green, 332 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

There is hardly a neighborhood in this country, wherein some woman has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy.

If there is anything about which you would like special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

WILSON SNUB FOR FARMERS

Hughes Shows How Tillers of the Soil Were Ignored in Railroad Discussion.

CROP RAISERS FOOT BILL TO PAY FOR BROTHERHOOD DEAL.

Democratic Nominee Levelled a Body Blow at the Interests of Our Agricultural Communities When at the Best of an Exclusive Group of Railroad Workers He Increased Their Pay Without Investigating the Justice of the Demand.

Charles E. Hughes, who left Lincoln for his second day's campaigning in Nebraska, told a crowd of farmers in his speech there that the Democratic Administration had ignored the agricultural interests of the country in urging the enactment of the Adamson law. The nominee in support of his contention, cited a telegram from President H. N. Pope of the Texas Farmers' Union to President Wilson requesting that the farmers be permitted to submit data in arbitration proceedings between the railroads and the brotherhoods. He said:

Someone Must Pay.
"I want to say in reference to rates that it seems to me the farmers of the country were very little considered the other day when on the demand of the Administration the wages of a group of railroad workers were increased by law, in response to force. Somebody has got to pay the increased bills, and the farmers will know very quick who has to pay them.

"The farmers were not represented in this discussion, if you may call it that in this surrender.—I have here a copy of a telegram that was sent to the President by Mr. Pope, the president of the State Farmers' Union of Texas, which I shall read to you:

"We ask that you make no concessions or commitments that will in any manner cause an increase in freight rates on products produced or consumed on the farm. The men who pay the freight have an equity in this dispute, which neither the railroad trainmen nor the railroad managers have authority to represent. If it is your intention to personally dispose of the matter we ask that you postpone further consideration until a committee of farmers can prepare information and data to present their side of the case. If you conclude to settle by arbitration, then the organized farmers should have representation on any arbitration committee that may be formed to dispose of this question; for the men who pay should have representation as well as the men who receive it.

"We again urge that all questions involved be settled by arbitration, where all parties and all interests can be heard and the subject dealt with aside from haste and intimidation."

Asked to Abdicate Authority.
The crowd cheered when Mr. Hughes concluded reading the telegram.

"No regard was paid to that message," Mr. Hughes said. "The business men of the country, through the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, were at the same time and had for many weeks before been imploring the executive and leaders in congress for an immediate and prompt inquiry in order that the justice of this matter might be known. The farmers were not there except through the presence of the representatives of the people in congress, and those representatives were asked to abdicate their authority.

"I am in favor of everything that can reasonably be done for the promotion of agriculture. I am glad to note the work of the Agricultural Department. It will be continued with me, if I am entrusted with the power, to the utmost of efficiency under my administration.

A Body Blow Levelled.
"But it is idle to talk of interest in the farmer when you have action like this taken in congress overnight, against the protests of the farmer, and leveling a body blow at the interests of our agricultural communities."

Mr. Hughes again denied the declaration that a vote for him "meant a vote for war."

Mr. Wilson says the election of Mr. Hughes will mean war with Europe and war with Mexico. Why not chuck in Abyssinia and Patagonia for good measure? One is as likely as the other.

Now Ellis Parker Butler, author of "Pigs Is Pigs," has declared for Wilson. It's a great administration for pork all right.

Now that Mr. Hughes has left Missouri they're referring to it out there as the "I'm Shown" state.

A doormat leads a life of supreme peace, but it has to stand for an awful lot of stepping on.

COMMISSION GETS THE BLAME

Wail of Fans is Going to be Heard Because of Exorbitant Prices Charged.

AT WORLD SERIES THIS YEAR

Another With Such Prices in Vogue Will be Poorly Patronized, it is Hinted.

BY HAMILTON.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct., 27.—The chase after the almighty dollar and the ultimate end of this chase, the death of the goose that lays the golden egg—never had a more forceful bunch of evidence against its practice than in the world's series between Boston and Brooklyn.

Charles H. Ebbets isn't to blame, nor is Joseph Lannin. The fault is with the August National Commission, the supposed protector of organized baseball. When the races in the American and National leagues reached a critical point early in October, the Commission made its plans for the big event, instructing all clubs which had a chance to have tickets printed and prepare them for sale. They fixed a scale of prices which skidded from 50 cents for a bleacher seat in Boston and $1 in Brooklyn, to $5 for the best box seats.

There was quashing of teeth and bitter wailing by the fans, but they having become baseball fans, were determined to see the thing through and they turned out well. There were vacancies in the Brooklyn park, but they did a big business in Boston.

Just the same the wail of the fans is certainly going to be heard. If the National Commission attempts to stage another world's series with such prices in vogue, critics everywhere are confidently predicting the rulers of the game will get the shock of their dignified lives when they count the resultant kale.

It was the mad, dashing blood-struggle for money that put the curse on horse racing and the same thing almost has done it to boxing. The National Commission is flitting with obscenity when it costs everything but the commercial side of the game to the dogs.

The success of football, the great college sport, run exclusively from a sporting standpoint, is a hint Gary Hermann, et al., should not overlook.

Furnace comfort and efficiency at less than heating stove cost

EVERYBODY who has a house to heat should be vitally interested in this remarkable new hot-air heating system that costs very little more than any ordinary heating stove to buy, no more to install, and much less to operate.

Estate Hot Storm

—the Stove with a "Little Furnace in it" is not a stove, not a furnace, but a heating system that combines the best features of both. It sets in the room like a stove, its exterior looks like a stove, but there the similarity ends. For the interior is utterly different from any stove you have ever seen; inside it is built like a hot air furnace.

The diagram shows how it works

Fresh air (just as with a furnace) is drawn in at the sides, heated evenly to several hundred degrees temperature, and then discharged—not through the flue and chimney, but through the top of the Hot-Air Chamber into the room. This creates a thorough circulation of hot air that will successfully heat several rooms. Even the upstairs rooms can be heated by the aid of a simple pipe connection.

Saved fuel pays for it

Only a very small percentage of the heat is allowed to escape up the chimney, for the Little Furnace blocks the upward rushing heat, absorbing it and throwing it back against the radiating surfaces of the stove proper. This results in an amazing saving of fuel—a saving so great that your Estate Hot Storm will soon pay for itself. And after that it will pay you.

All we ask you to do is to investigate the Estate Hot Storm—give us an opportunity to explain it to you—before you buy a stove of any kind. You owe it to yourself to do this.

L. Y. SHERMAN TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

Senator From Chicago Will Make
Last Republican Speech Here
Saturday Night, Nov. 4

Local Republicans to Give Way Before Other Cities Who Want
Watson on That Night

Republican County Chairman For
Riggs received word today that Sen-
ator L. Y. Sherman of Chicago
would close the republican campaign in Rush county with a speech
at the Graham Annex auditorium
Saturday evening, November 4, following a monster demonstration and
rally.

As has been his custom in past
campaigns, James E. Watson has
closed the campaign in Rush county
on the Saturday night before the
election on the following Tuesday,
but there have been so many demands for the senatorial candidate
from many places in the state that
Mr. Watson's home county had to give way in this instance because of
the insistent demands elsewhere.

There was a sort of an under-
standing, though very indefinite, that
Mr. Watson would observe the usual
practice this year, but local republicans were very willing to release Mr.
Watson in view of the fact that
there was such a demand for him in
other counties. He was dated by
the speakers' bureau at state headquarters for Henry county on Saturday, November 4, and it was understood by Henry county republicans that Mr. Watson would close
the day with a night speech in Newcastle. Republicans up in Henry
would not listen to any suggestion
that the Newcastle meeting be made
an afternoon affair and that Mr.
Watson be allowed to come to his
home city at night, so the Rush
county republicans had to give way.

Senator Sherman is one of the
most prominent campaigners speaking for the republican national committee this year. It was he who delivered the principal address at the
notification of Charles W. Fairbanks
in Indianapolis. Senator Sherman
has gained distinction in the United States senate and has attained such
prominence in the republican party
that he was a candidate for president at the last national convention.

Senator Sherman is a much
sought after orator who analyzes the
issues of the campaign lucidly and
with great force. He resembles Abraham Lincoln very much, and in other
ways is like Lincoln because of his
simplicity of dress and because of
things.

It is the source of great regret to Rush county republicans that their
favorite son can not close the campaign here, but those who have expressed any sentiment in this regard
have said that they were willing to
step aside and allow some other city
to hear Mr. Watson's closing campaign speech.

Mr. Watson closed a two days
campaign of Lake county last night.
Mrs. Watson has been accompany-
ing him this week on his tour, having been at Richmond when he spoke
last Tuesday night. Dispatches from Hammond say that Mrs. Watson's
trip, which is the first she ever made
with her husband while he was campaigning, is adding color to Lake
county's spectacular campaign. At East Chicago there was a demonstration in her honor.

In Lake county Mr. Watson was able to drive home the lesson of the
war prosperity. He addressed a crowd at noon at Aetna guncoiton
factory. Aetna employees have been
told their plant would make dyes af-

REPORTED AFIRE AT SEA

Trying to Make Port

(By United Press.)
New York, Oct. 27.—Wall Street
ticker services this afternoon carried a rumor that the French liner
Chicago with 300 passengers on
board was afire at sea and was en-
Azores.

The French line had no information regarding the rumor and the
marine exchange likewise had received no report.

Chihuahua City Connected Only to
the North and Arrival of Re-
inforcements is Delayed

IS DUE TO A COUP OF VILLA'S

(By United Press.)
El Paso, Texas, Oct. 27.—Chihua-
hua City was cut off from the south
both by wire and railway communication, being severed yesterday,
through a coup executed by Villa,
and the heavy Carranza forces coming up from the south to re-inforce
the garrison will be delayed and am-
munition supplies stopped, except
from the north.

A detachment of bandits cut the Mexican national railway about 30
miles south of the Chihuahua capital. Agents of three United States
departments obtained this information today from sources declared to
be reliable.

The severed line was the only railway from the south entering Chihua-
hua city and the city now is very
isolated except from northern Chihuahua. At the same time the main force of Villistas is moving
northward.

Will Gather at Court House Assembly Room Tomorrow Afternoon
to Hear Annual Reports

WILL ALSO ELECT OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the stock-
holders of the Rush County Fair association will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock in the court house assembly room. Notices have
been sent to all of the stockholders,
and in view of the fact that there is
nothing conflicting this year, a large
attendance is probable.

At that time the report of the
treasurer, W. S. Oneal, and the secretary, J. Q. Thomas, will be heard.
New officers will be elected, including the board of directors, as is the
custom at the annual meeting. The
secretary, however, is not chosen by
the stockholders, but is named later
at a meeting of the new board of directors.

The financial condition of the fair
association will be known tomorrow
for the first time since the last fair,
the officers not having made public
the results of the 1916 exhibit because some time was required to settle all of the bills.

terward. Three firemen who tried
to rescue the workmen were over-
come by fumes and still live.

Gurley Brewer, Colored Orator of Indianapolis, Refers to "Bless-
ed be the Peacemaker"

Asks if Boys in Blue Had Been
"Too Proud to Fight," Where
Would His Race be Now

Gurley Brewer, colored newspaper
editor of Indianapolis, in a republi-
can speech last night at the court
house assembly room, urged his people to support the republican party,
declaring that the republican party
was the only party that was the
true friend of the negro. Mr. Brewer said that in his opinion the negro
who voted the democratic ticket violated the will of God.

The assembly room was crowded
for the meeting and the speaker was
frequently interrupted by applause.
John Ferguson presided and introduced the speaker. Mr. Ferguson in
a brief speech explained his return
to the republican party.

"In 1912 we had a little party
trouble," said Mr. Ferguson, "and I went astray. But in the language of the great Watson I have no apologies to offer and I thank God that
we are together again. We stand
for the same great principles. The
democrats can't understand why the
progressives should return to the republican party and I have been frequently asked as to why I returned.
The democratic party is sectional
and in the south they disfranchise
the black man. The same thing will happen in the north if they are continued in power long enough. No,
the democratic party has nothing to
offer my race."

At the start of his address Mr.
Brewer referred to the split four
years ago. "Four years ago," said
the speaker, "the republican party
had grown so big and powerful that
it tried to elect two presidents at the
same time and this proved to be im-
possible."

Mr. Brewer stated that one of the first declarations of the republican
party as a national party was its
opposition to slavery and declared
that the spirit of Abraham Lincoln
still lives. He declared that along
with the freedom of the colored race
came the discussion of that great
economic question of protection.
"Of course the south was opposed to
a protective tariff," said Mr. Brewer.
"With their slave labor they did not
want protection, but after the slaves
were freed then came the great
battle for this principle."

"The Republican party is the only
true party for the negro. I believe that it was God's will that the republican party take its stand against
slavery and free the negro and when
a negro votes the democratic ticket
he violates the will of God, in my opinion. I have no respect for a colored man who forgets what has
been done for him."

The speaker then referred to the
campaign slogan of the democrats,
"He Kept us Out of War." "We all
deplore war," said the speaker. "It
is dreadful and across the water
they are waging the worst conflict in
the history of the world. 'He kept us

way here I noticed two large banners in Indianapolis, one bearing the
words, 'He kept us out of war' and
the other 'Blessed be the Peace-
maker.' This last is from the Bible
and it appeared sacrilegious to me. It
surely does not apply to Woodrow Wilson. If he is the great peace-
maker they would have you believe,
why does he permit the shipping of
munitions and still maintain that we

Glenwood Woman Granted Decree
From Lee O. Link by Judge
Sparks on Payment of Costs

GETS CUSTODY OF 4 CHILDREN

G. W. Thomas Wins Over Frank
Warrick on Plea in Abatement
—Ayres Land to be Sold

Judge Sparks this morning heard
the divorce suit of Mrs. Pearl Link
against Lee O. Link and granted her
a divorce upon payment of the costs.
The Links reside in Glenwood. The
defendant did not appear in court
against his wife.

Mrs. Link alleged cruel and in-
human treatment and told the court
of abuses suffered when he was intoxicated. Judge Sparks gave her
the custody of their four minor children and ordered Link to pay the
sum of $5 a week to the clerk of
the court for the support of the children.

The court found for the plaintiff,
George W. Thomas, against the defendant, Frank Warrick on the plea
in abatement and ordered the defendant to plead over. The case will
now be tried. The suit is for possession, Thomas demanding possession of his farm in Walker township.

In the suit of Frank Wilson
against Horrie Brooks, on a judgment, demanding $150, the court
found for Wilson for $133.47.

The land of the late Ira W. Ayres
was ordered sold when the court
heard the petition of A. L. Gary, as trustee of the estate, asking that the
real estate be sold. Under the
decision of the court the land is to
be sold at private sale and is to be
sold either as a whole or in parcels.

ASKS RE-ELECTION ON HIS OWN RECORD

Congressman Finly Gray Speaks to Large Audience at Mays on Thursday Night

COMES HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Finly Gray of Connorsville, democratic candidate for congress,
opened his campaign in Rush county
last night, speaking to a large audience at Mays. Congressman Gray
told of the laws enacted by the progressive element of the democratic party and told the progressives that
the democrats had enacted all the
laws they had asked for in their
platform of 1912.

Gray did not mention any state issues but stuck closely to national
affairs. He told of some of his own achievements, appealing for re-
election on his record. He claimed
that the democratic party has given
the people popular election of United States senators, the campaign
publicity law, a currency reform,
revenue and taxation reforms, labor
legislation, inheritance and direct
taxes, child labor laws, tariff for
revenue only and the rural credits
law.

He was introduced by Will New-
bold of this city. Several democrats
from this city attended the meeting.
Gray speaks at Falmouth tonight
and in Rushville next Tuesday night.

RETURNS TO SHADOW LAWN

of Wilson Day Tomorrow

(By United Press.)
Grafton, N. J., Oct. 27.—President Wilson was returning today to Shadow Lawn to prepare for the
final fireworks of the campaign. Tomorrow is "Wilson Day" throughout
the nation and the democracy will
observe it generally by reading at
local meetings the same message the
president is to deliver at a gathering at the summer white house.

NO TRUTH IN STORY HE WILL BE GAGED

Theodore Roosevelt Says There is no
Dispute Between Him and
Hughes Managers

TO MAKE 5 MORE SPEECHES

BY J. P. YODER
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 27.—Answering
published reports that he was to be
gaged into pussy-footing on the German issue and that as a result a
coldness had arisen between himself
and the powers behind the Hughes
campaign, Col. Roosevelt today announced he would make five more
speeches in the interest of the republican presidential candidate.

The colonel denied the report of
friction as follows:

"I am absolutely agreed with the
managers of the Hughes campaign.
They ask me only to state my inner-
most and deepest convictions as I desire. I am in entire harmony with
them."

DESTROYERS CLASH IN ENGLISH CHANNEL

Two German Ships are Sunk When
They Attempt Night Attack
and Rest Driven Off

ONE BRITISH THOUGHT LOST

(By United Press.)
London, Oct. 27.—British and German destroyers clashed in a sharp naval engagement in the English channel last night, the admiralty
announced today.

The German warships attempted a raid under cover of darkness. Two
enemy destroyers were sunk.

It is feared that one of the British destroyers was lost, the admiralty added, and another was disabled.

"Last night ten enemy destroyers
participated in an attack to raid the
cross-channel transport service,"
said the admiralty statement. "The
empty transport Queen was sunk.
The crew of the transport was
saved. Two of the enemy destroyers
were sunk and the rest driven off."

"The British destroyer Flirt is
missing and it is feared is lost. The
destroyer Lubian was disabled and
forced aground."

ARE EVACUATING DOBRUDJA

London, Oct. 27.—The Russo-
Rumanian forces are evacuating all
of Dobrudja, the Bulgarian war office announced today. The Petro-
grad official statement announced
that the Russian army was retiring
northward and was offering stubborn
resistance. The German left wing
has pushed forward 25 miles. On
the Somme front the French have begun closing in on the enemy, the French war office announced.

Berlin declares that French troops
were repulsed at Douaumont.

on Border Know Nothing of

Reiterates First Charge That Plot
Exists to Produce Armed Conflict With Americans

(By United Press.)
El Paso, Tex., Oct. 27.—Representatives of the state department on
the border claim to have no knowledge of a plot of Mexican revolutionists to raid the American expeditionary force in Mexico, while United States militia officers say they
have been prepared for some such
eventuality as this.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Secretary
of War Baker and Secretary of State Lansing both declared today
that a Mexican, not American, plot-
ter is responsible for the border raid
danger outlined in Baker's startling
statement of last night.

"I can not imagine any American
citizen so unpatriotic, heartless and
wanton as to join in such action,"
said the secretary of state.

"The Mexican opponents of the de
facto government," said Secretary
Baker, "would of course be glad to
complicate the relations between
the United States and Mexico and
our information is that they think
this is an appropriate time to do so."

Washington, Oct. 27.—Secretary
of War Baker announced today that
he may have another statement to
make later, on the charge that a plot
exists to produce armed conflict between Mexico and the United States.
Administration officials indicated
today they consider Baker's statement as intended as a warning to Mexico and a guarantee of the American government's good faith. The administration officials expect the Carranza government to take final
and effective measures for the suppression of Mexican banditry.

Mr. Baker issued this statement
first, calling attention to the alleged
plot:

"The War Department has received
definite information confirmed
from other sources that enemies of
the administration's policy toward Mexico, in co-operation with Villa or other bandits in Mexico, have arranged a spectacular attack to be made either upon some part of the Ameri-
can forces or upon some American
community on the border between
now and the date of the election, for
the purpose of turning the tide of
sentiment against the policy which
the administration had adopted for
the protection of the border."

"It is significant in this connection that both the State and War
Departments were advised that the bandit forces operating at the present time in Mexico are being paid in silver coin."

"Full particulars have been transmitted by the department to Gen.
Funston and Gen. Pershing. All American forces are, therefore, forewarned and in readiness for such an
attack."

HOW TO SELL THINGS THAT ARE "FOR SALE"

Write your "For Sale" ad SIMPLY stating every detail about the article that you would want an ad to give if you were anxious to buy something of the kind yourself. Give a little thought to the "selling points" about the article, and put THEM into your ad. Then run the ad MORE THAN ONCE, if that is necessary. It may or may not be.

Plenty of 5% Farm Loan Money

Buy Advertised Brands — They're Best

"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRANDS—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheaper" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectively, to gain.

4 OR 5 TONS OF COAL WILL HEAT YOUR HOME ALL WINTER WITH A

FLORENCE

You will remember the great Hot Blast Air Tight Florence that was demonstrated in the Centennial parade Friday, Oct. 13, by Mr. J. B. Howard, the inventor. Read what he has to say about it:

Mr. Howard, the inventor, says that with 4 or 5 tons of the poorest and cheapest grade of soft coal you can heat 4 or 5 rooms all winter with a No. 153 Florence, which will produce cleaner results than hard coal in a base burner. The result that you will get with 4 or 5 tons of the poorest soft coal in the Florence, will equal 6 or 7 tons of coal in any other make of stove or furnaces. LEADING DEMOCRATIC PAPERS OPPOSED TAGGART WHEN HE WAS NOT ON THEIR TICKET

The Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, the leading Democratic organ of northeastern Indiana, in July, 1906, demanded Tom Taggart's resignation as chairman of the National Committee, saying:

"There may be more politics than morality in the French Lick gambling crusade, but the case is against Mr. Taggart, and he can not continue to serve as chairman of the National Democratic Committee without doing the party irreparable harm. The relation between the hotels and the casinos, or gambling houses at French Lick and West Baden are too well known to admit of doubt. The issue is made between the state of Indiana and men who have challenged its authority for years, and the people will stand by the state as against the law breakers and gamblers, who ought to be driven out of the business forever."

In July, 1906 the Richmond Sun-Telegram, the leading Democratic paper in the Sixth district, demanded that Tom Taggart, Democratic National chairman, step down and out, in view of the demoralizing work done by the state in Taggart's gambling den at French Lick. In part the Sun-Telegram said:

"Every moment he now poses as a representative of the Democracy of the state and Union is an injustice to the party which gave him the prominence he has had in the political world."

The Evansville Courier, the leading Democratic paper in the state, in January, 1912, had the following to say in a long editorial on Taggart activities:

If Taggart succeeds in naming the state ticket from the chief executive to the judiciary in the Democratic convention on March 21, he will pave the way for his entrance in the United States senate.

But you say, if Ralston is nominated carrying the load of Crawford Fairbanks and Tom Taggart he can't win. There is a chance that he might, and Taggart is taking that chance. If he doesn't Taggart is no worse off than though Boehne were elected by 100,000. The party has never won in Indiana with Taggart in control. Its worse defeat was when he had complete control—in 1904. It was his candidate that was running for the presidency, he was national chairman, the state chairman, W. H. O'Brien, was his own selection.

Nevertheless in all these years of party defeat, Taggart has grown no poorer. His financial condition has not been injured. Why should he worry over the defeat of the Democratic party in Indiana next fall.

Lungs Improve When Taking Nacor

The recovery of Dewitt Perdue, 1615 Eighth Ave., Huntington, W. Va., is the talk of the town. After suffering severely from lung trouble, he now reports he enjoys good health. Giving all credit to Nacor, Mr. Perdue writes:

"I find Nacor to be all that you have recommended it to be. Having had pneumonia several times, my lungs were left in a very bad condition, and my health, generally, run down. So being anxious for my recovery, I tried several remedies that came highly recommended, but Nacor surpassed them all. It is really in a class by itself, and too much can not be said in praise of it." (Signed) Dewitt Perdue.

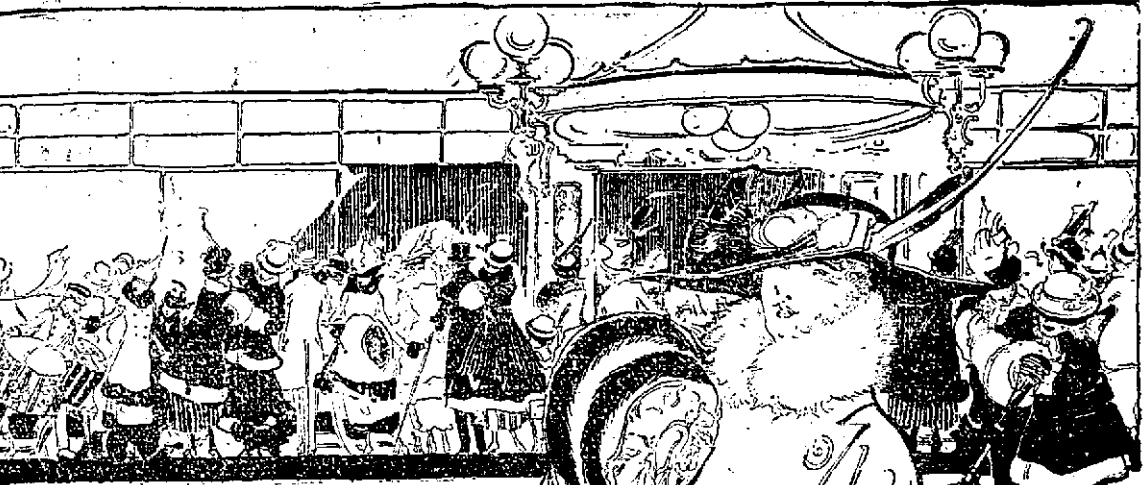

Let us send you free copy of "Facts About Nacor." Nacor is accomplishing remarkable results in cases of lung trouble, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, impure blood and run-down system. The professional services of our physician are at your disposal free of charge. Write M. L. Haymann, 417 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

* Amusements *

The Gem offers the five act feature "The Man From Nowhere" for the program tonight. King Baggot is featured. It is a dramatic story of circumstantial evidence and a crime avenged. Tomorrow, matinee and night the big double program will be shown including Mary Fuller in "A Splash of Local Color."

The Princess will show the great emotional actress Nance O'Neil in the drama "Those Who Toil" for the program tonight. The story by Daniel Carson Goodman as transformed into an imposing screen masterpiece under the direction of Edgar Lewis deals intimately with the labor problems of the oil fields. The scene is set in the Pennsylvania oil fields. The actual shooting of a real oil well is one of the big scenes. The theme is described as love, oil and money in equal parts. A particular in which the admirers of Nance O'Neil will find special interest is that in the character of Jane Brett, a daughter of the people, this great emotional actress has been furnished with abundant opportunity to display her powerful style of acting that has made her famous.

Mexican First Chief Expected to Announce Candidacy for Presidency Following Parade

PARADES MOVE TO PALACE

(By United Press.) Mexico City, Oct. 27.—General Carranza is expected formally to announce his candidacy for the presidency following a great demonstration that lasted until an early hour today.

Crowds of the first chief's admirers paraded the streets of the capital most of the night. Several processions united in a great parade to the palace where spokesmen pledged Carranza their support and loyalty and asked him to accept the nomination.

2 REPORTS OF SUBMARINES

One Said to Have Been Seen at Norfolk; Another at Newport News

(By United Press.) Washington, Oct. 27.—Unofficial reports reached the navy department this afternoon that a German submarine had arrived at Norfolk, Virginia. The department refused to discuss the report. Private advices from Norfolk said no submarine had been sighted in the harbor and that observers at Cape Henry had sighted none.

Newport, News, Oct. 27.—The report on the water front here that a submarine had passed in the capes could not be verified at 2:45 o'clock today by the weather observer at Cape Henry or by naval observers at Ft. Monroe.

ORDERS TO BE CANCELED IN EVENT OF WILSON'S ELECTION

A number of traveling men have visited the Republican State Headquarters the past week, and several of them have related the same experience that they have had in taking future orders for toys and articles for the holiday trade. Such orders are generally taken with the understanding that they are not to be subject to cancellation. The traveling men report that they have been requested by their customers to take the orders subject to cancellation on November 10th provided Hughes was not elected president, and in case that he is elected then the orders are to stand. The merchants claim that the anticipated close of the European war will cause such a depression in business with Wilson as president that they will take no chances in stocking up goods that are not staple articles.

Jasper D. Case filed suit on an account against Wilford Grandle in circuit court this morning, demanding $3,500. Mr. Case alleges that the defendant is indebted to him in the sum of $3,070.93, which he has been unable to collect.

An enthusiastic crowd of Modern Woodmen greeted State Consul A. C. Osborn at the camp-room last night, and listened to a very interesting and effective talk on the aim and progress of the society. At the close of the address it was decided to hold a class adoption Thanksgiving night, Nov. 30th, and all present pledged themselves to do all they could to get a big class for that occasion. The Modern Woodmen head officers adopted the slogan 100,000 new members for 1916, and up to Oct. 1, 97,776 of that number had been secured, and the head officers now feel that they can make it 125,000 if the membership keeps on hustling as it has the past 9 months.

Ida Tarbell's Interview.
"If I understand myself, I am sincere when I say that I have no personal desire for re-election. It would be an unspeakable relief to be excused, but I am caught in the midst of a process. Everything that I believe in chains me here. Nothing is finished. Is it wise that the country should change now, leaving so much at loose ends?" confided President Wilson in the course of an interview in the current issue of Collier's, with Ida M. Tarbell, social uplifter who is speaking in Indianapolis today to Indiana teachers.
"I hazarded that he stood about where Mr. Lincoln did in August, 1864," writes the interviewer.
"Exactly," the president replied.
But Collier's, though it publishes the article, takes occasion in its editorial column to object to the comparison. It might be nauseating, to say the least, to the boys of '61 who weren't "too proud to fight." Anyway, Collier's says:
"And while we are on this subject we must again protest against the comparison of living politicians with Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln is dead and cannot defend himself. The friends of Mr. Wilson who try to draw this likeness must think they are dealing with a public which is suffering from what Admiral Jellicoe might call 'low visibility.' Miss Tarbell ought to know better. If she applied the same tests to the living idols that as a historian she would apply to a dead statesman, she might find a nearer likeness to Mr. Wilson in Franklin Pierce or Millard Fillmore. To see her suggesting the more or less sacrilegious comparison of the signer of the German and American notes with the author of the Second Inaugural makes us think that she is not as frequent a reader as we are of one of the best biographies—the 'Life of Abraham Lincoln,' by Ida M. Tarbell.

"The Democratic party," says Mr. Wilson in the same interview, "is offering a program of principles based on a belief of the control of the common people."
He probably refers to the passage of the Adamson act, which is about as far from the principles referred to as anything could be. But if Mr. Wilson believes it was all right, that settles it in his own estimation. The Chicago Daily News, which espoused his cause in the Baltimore convention and stood by him until recently, in announcing that it cannot stomach him longer, sums up by saying "Mr. Wilson is a scholarly egotist who measures all things by personal standards which are subject to no modification other than those resulting from his confirmed policy of opportunism."
"There is a multitude of experience," said Mr. Wilson to Miss Tarbell, "to prove that the eight-hour day is the only efficient day."
Whether he meant to or not—and it is evidently the case that he does mean to—the president is still practicing deception on the people with reference to the Adamson law. He has been termed an astute politician, but he shows a sad lack of political sagacity in still referring to the 8-hour day principle as being linked with the Adamson law. He is mistaken; the people of the United States are not such a gullible lot. Anyone who has read anything whatever about the issues of this campaign or have heard any political speeches in which an attempt was made to explain the railroad workers will that was jammed down the throat of congress, knows that the Adamson law merely fixes the method for measuring compensation and does not fix the eight-hour day for railway trainmen. Even Senator Kern admitted in a speech day before yesterday that it was not an eight-hour day law.
"I am not willing to do anything that is inconsistent with my position as a president. I do not believe that the people of this country want their president on the stump, working for his own interests. I am not willing to do anything that they would feel is bad taste in a president. I am inclined to think that bad taste is bad politics," said the president.
Even yet Mr. Wilson made a couple of speeches in Cincinnati yesterday. A delegation journeys to Shadow Lawn tomorrow to hear a speech by the president. Certainly he must be making political speeches in his own interests. If not, why make speeches! They contribute nothing to the health, wealth or happiness of the country. And Mr. Wilson says bad taste is bad politics and stumping is bad taste. You may draw what conclusions you please, but it appears to us that Mr. Wilson is playing politics, as he plainly says, in his own interests, by staying off the stump—his idea of staying off—and not, as he says because he thinks it is the people's wish.
Wont Disavow Baker.
President Wilson has intimated to the correspondents at Shadow Lawn that he will not disavow Secretary Baker's slander of the Revolutionary heroes. It is his present purpose to ignore all the indignation which Mr. Baker has aroused. Why he takes this stand he does not explain, but it is generally suspected that he is afraid Carranza would be annoyed if he should say anything indicating that he regarded the Revolutionary heroes as more worthy of admiration and respect than the cutthroats and bandits who compose the revolutionary army of Mexico, if such an aggregation of outlaws may be termed an army.

Keeping Out of War.
Mr. Wilson's contention that he alone has kept this country out of war and that unless he is re-elected the nation will be plunged into war has raised an interesting question as to how, without Mr. Wilson's little neutral nations of Europe have been kept out of war. There is little Switzerland, surrounded by the belligerents, Holland and Denmark in an almost similar position. Sweden and Norway in close proximity, and Spain adjoining France and with naval engagements taking place right off her shores. Who, or what, kept them out of war? How did they survive and keep the peace without a Woodrow Wilson? Of course it might be suggested that they have been kept out of war by the fact that the belligerents had their hands full and no one of them wanted to increase the number of its enemies. But that argument would apply equally to the United States and would support the contention of Senator Root, that never in the history of the United States has it been easier to keep out of war than during the European conflict, and that it is a wicked argument because it robs Mr. Wilson of his only claim to re-election.
The issue is rapidly narrowing down to whether the American people want for president a man of words, or a man of his words.

TABLOID TALK ON THE ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN

They still say
That Woodrow Wilson
Kept us out of war
And it is not unlikely That soon they will say
"He kept us out of jail"
For the truth is
We are out of war
And also
We are out of jail.
Incidentally we note that
We are out of luck
If that is all
This democratic crowd
Can do for us
With Hughes at the helm
It will be different,
We can still keep out of war
For Mr. Hughes
Carries no chip
On his shoulder
And besides he stands for America First
Constructive preparedness
A protective tariff that protects Universal, not sectional government
AND A SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL!

Mrs. Linnie Belcher Feels Like a New Woman Since Taking Tanlac

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 26.—"I have tried many medicines during the last fifteen years, but Tanlac is the first one that has given me relief from my troubles," Mrs. Linnie Belcher, a well known resident of this city, who lives at 214 West Seventh street, said here recently.

"I had stomach trouble," Mrs. Belcher continued. "I also was very nervous. I suffered frequently from attacks of dizziness. My stomach usually was in a gaseous condition and my appetite was poor."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, poor circulation, general depression and is a general tonic for weak people. Tanlac is now sold exclusively in Rushville at E. E. Wolcott's drug store; in Arlington at Mrs. L. T. Davis's; in Carthage at J. H. McCarthy & Sons, and in Milroy at Barton & Sheppard's.—(Adv.)

Current Comments

Source of Mexican Policy.

(Chicago Tribune.)

"To Secretary of War Baker we owe an important contribution to the campaign."

"If our readers will ponder it they will find themselves at the source of the whole error of the Wilson-Bryan policy in Mexico."

"Mr. Baker informs the world that 'Washington's soldiers at Valley Forge' were just as bad characters as the Mexican 'revolutionists'."

"We do not hold the illusion that every man in Washington's army was a hero and a saint. The Tribune has been abused for pointing out the fact that the revolutionary army was full of disorder, mutiny, incompetence, want of patriotism, etc. We have shown how Washington's great soul was tried by the conditions he had to deal with."

"The Wilson administration apparently knows nothing of what the Mexican people are, and refuses to know. Mr. Wilson's section of the country refuses to permit the American Negro to exercise his legal right of franchise. But he and his advisers are endowing the Mexican Indian with all the capacity for self government which the American colonial had developed through centuries of political progress."

"Mr. Baker's parallel between the herds of peons and the American colonials is itself a sentimental stupidity without parallel, except perhaps in the doctrinairism of Bryan and his school of pro-Philippinists. No man who has seen the Mexican quasi-serf at home, no man who has read Mexican history, no man who brings a reasonable measure of common sense to bear upon an informed consideration of the historic, political, social, and religious backgrounds of the American colonial and the Mexican Indian would utter the folly of which this cabinet minister is guilty."

"Yet Mr. Baker's folly is that which has given us the greater folly of the Wilson-Bryan policy, a policy with no knowledge of the controlling facts and no respect for them."

Mr. Baker and his associates may believe that Carranza is a Washington, Zapata an Israel Putnam, Villa a Light Horse Harry Lee. He may believe their followers fit for comparison with the men who in the tradition of Runnymede fought at Lexington, suffered at Valley Forge and triumphed at Yorktown. But, so believing, they are unfit to govern this nation built upon eight centuries of steady development in self-government."

"Mr. Baker has given us a complete explanation of the Mexican policy of this astonishing administration and we hope his foolish words may be its ironic epitaph."

SOCIETY

Mrs. James H. Baldwin is entertaining several friends informally at cards this evening at her home in North Perkins street.

The members of the Psi Iota Xi sorority will be entertained on Tuesday evening by the Misses Leah Flint and Belma Clark at the home of Miss Clark in North Sexton street. Every member is urged to be present.

Mrs. S. G. Huntington, as treasurer of the association, and Mrs. Fred Arbuckle as secretary of literature are taking a prominent part in the meeting of the missionary association being held at the Lewis Creek church, south of Shelbyville, today. Twenty-eight societies belong to the district and an excellent program was given, aside from the business which was brought up.

The party given at the K. of C. hall last evening by the members of the Knights of Columbus for their lady friends proved to be all that was expected in the regard to the good time. The seventy-five guests played various games of cards during the first part of the evening. Later, they entered into the informal program of dances for which lively music was furnished by Miss Marie McKee at the piano.

At the pretty country home of Miss Grace Buell northeast of the city, the members of the Thursday Afternoon Card Club spent a pleasant period yesterday afternoon. With an extra table in play, Miss Buell entertained twelve guests in all, who after the card games were served with a tempting one course luncheon. Mrs. Forrest Remsburg of Raton, N. M., was among the guests. The next meeting of the club will be with Miss Bertha Helm.

The most elaborate event in the social calendar of the Psi Iota Xi sorority will be given in Indianapolis, Saturday, November 4th when each chapter will be represented at the annual luncheon. The affair is in charge of the Indianapolis chapter of the sorority. A large number from the local chapter is planning to attend as well as from the other chapters. The luncheon at the Claypool is to be followed by a matinee party at the English to see Elsie Ferguson in "Shirley Kaye."

The ladies attending the all day meeting of the Willing Workers of the Christian church of Orange at the home of Mrs. H. G. Pyke near Glenwood Wednesday were Mrs. Ralph Bowen, Mrs. N. P. Bowen, Mrs. Ross Friend and daughter, Irene, Mrs. John Dawson, Mrs. Charles Medd, Mrs. W. R. Phillips, Mrs. Bert Moore, Mrs. Ed McClanahan, Mrs. Frank Crist, Mrs. Bertha Long, Mrs. Ozro Stevens, Mrs. Marian Russell, Mrs. Richard Gray, Mrs. C. E. Clifford and two guests, Mrs. Jacob Hitchell and Mrs. Chris Rowe.

Local members of the Kappa Alpha Phi fraternity are looking forward to the annual mid-winter dance for members of all chapters of the fraternity to be given in the Riley room at the Claypool during the holidays, December 28th. It is to be a beautiful party, the grand march to begin at 8:30 o'clock. Members of the committee having charge of the dance are Montgomery Purviance of Huntington, Joseph Becowitz of Bloomington, William Zehner of Tipton, David Jennings of Newcastle, and Kenneth Sullivan of Alexandria.

The Royal Neighbors will have a call meeting Monday night. Every member is urged to attend.

The intermediate department of the United Presbyterian Sunday school is giving a masked Halloween social this evening at the church. All the church members are invited and a pleasant time is anticipated.

The teachers of the primary and beginners classes of the Main Street Christian Sunday school will give a Halloween social at the church Monday afternoon, from 3:30 until 5. All children under 9 years are invited to attend.

A Halloween party will be given tomorrow evening by the members of the Priscilla Art Club at the home of Miss Bessie Knotts of Falmouth. Each member has the privilege of inviting three guests and about 50 are expected to be present for the pitch-in supper and party which is to follow.

The dinner party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Clark today was in honor of several relatives from a distance who are visiting here. A bountiful three course dinner was served and a delightful day spent by the guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Thompson and daughter, Florence, of Wabash, Eldervert Thompson of Lafontaine, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Frazee, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Humes and Mrs. Elizabeth Humes.

About 40 couples attended the first of the dancing parties to be given by the Knights of Pythias in their hall this season, last evening. It was an informal and very delightful party, the guests entering into the program of dances with their usual spirit of sociability. Sherman's four piece orchestra, consisting of piano, saxophone, banjo and traps, furnished lively music. The next dance of the kind will be given two weeks from last evening. The committee in charge of these dances is composed of Frank Priest, Frank Flint, and John Worthington. Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Reynolds of Glenwood and Mrs. Lev Wallace of Detroit, Mich., were among the guests.

The meeting of the Happy-Go-Lucky club held with Mrs. O. J. Myers at her country home south of the city yesterday was in the form of a dinner party. The guests were seated at a long table in the dining room where the elegant two course repast was served. A social afternoon together completed the delightful meeting for the members who were Mrs. O. E. Humes, Mrs. John H. Frazee, Mrs. Louis M. Clark, Mrs. William Alexander, Miss Emma Blackledge, Mrs. John D. Megee, Mrs. Charles Mauzy, Mrs. Bert Norris, Mrs. George Looney, Mrs. Albert Winship and as guests, Miss Alice Norris and Mrs. Walter Norris. Mrs. Bert Norris will entertain the ladies at their next meeting which will be in two weeks.

Highlights on Talks by Miss Garvin

One half teaspoonful of baking powder in meringue will keep it from falling.

Cook meringue thoroughly with slow fire and brown with quick one. It will not fall then.

Add pinch of salt to cocoa or coffee.

Stick fork in edge, not middle, of steak when turning it. Never put meat in a cold skillet.

Use sour milk when possible. It is more economical and digestible.

Do not taste the cooking with the stirring spoon. Put the sample in a tasting spoon. It is just as easy when you have the habit.

As often as possible, have numbers on the menu that do not demand all your attention just before serving the meal.

Cook chocolate in any article thoroughly until the starch grains are broken down.

Economy does not always mean cheap materials, but depends on the value of your time and fuel as well.

Flour should be sifted twice for baking, once before measuring and once afterwards with the baking powder.

The longer you whip cream, the greater the bulk, for in proportion to the amount you beat is the amount of air taken up in the cream.

When necessary to use water instead of milk or lard instead of butter, do not tell it and it will not be noticed.

WOMEN IN THE CAMPAIGN

When Charles Evans Hughes moves into a big white house next March, he will have to admit that the women had just a little share in securing his new residence for him. They are coming out strong for the republican candidate, in all states of the union, even in Indiana, where they are not supposed to have a word to say on political matters. There wouldn't be anyone, of course in scheduling any speakers for Indiana, since the best vote the women have is the wee bit of influence they may perhaps be able to exert over Friend Husband's ballot.

But Indiana women can go outside the state to sway their audiences in favor of the only candidate, and that's exactly what they are doing. Miss Mary Hannah Knout, of Crawfordsville, a well-known newspaper writer and lecturer, has been engaged by the Western branch of the national republican campaign committee at Chicago to take part in campaign work in the suffrage states, and is now on a speaking tour, covering Colorado, California and Oregon. There was no doubt of the sentiment of Indianapolis women, after Mr. Hughes' visit there, when they marched 1,000 strong, to hear him speak.

Another worker for the good cause is Mrs. Inez Millholland Boissavain one of the best known of the suffrage leaders, who started October 3 for a month's speaking tour through all the suffrage states. Her special point is opposition to President Wilson's re-election.

A unique train, which goes by the name of the Hughes woman's special train, is touring the continent, stopping at all large cities, and meeting the prominent women of the communities, to arouse their interest and enlist them in the work.

It must be the well known intuition which lines up the women on the right side of the fence. They want to be on the band wagon in November.

TRIES TO MAKE COFFEE CLEAR AND HOPES IT WILL PERCOLATE

Margaret Mason, on tour of South America, finds that Moco and Java, the justly celebrated brand, comes off the same father and mother bush, the only difference being that one is the runt and the other is the perfect grain. As you sip U. S. A., Turkish or French coffee, you may be sure it has a Brazilian past.

(Written for United Press.) BY MARGARET MASON.

Sure Mocha and Java, well mixed, and ground fine

Is Coffee I always have ordered for mine!

My Mocha before me, my Grandmother too

Have always insisted on this blended brew,

But now I must shatter traditions, I see,

For Mocha and Java I've picked from one tree.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 1.—(By Mail)—This certainly is going to be an awful blow to the domestic coffee connoisseurs. The epicures who smack their lips and extol the elusive flavor of the Java as it subtly intermingles with the Mocha.

Indeed it furnished me coffee grounds for surprise when I found the Mocha and Java not only growing on the same family tree but even on the same branch of the family.

The best way to settle the coffee question is to take a night's train trip from Rio to Sao Paulo. The state of Sao Paulo is the greatest coffee growing country in the world. It's capital, city of Sao Paulo, is justly dubbed the "Chicago of South America." A two hours run by train brings us to the little town of Campinas right out in the midst of the open rolling coffee country.

The "King" of Campinas himself took us by auto out through the coffee plantations. He is a King by my own dubbing. This successful North American from Lawrence, Kansas, chose to make light of my appellation just as he chose to make light of Campinas. You see he controls the electric light plant and the traction line in Campinas, as well as in thirteen other small Brazilian towns. Surely a neat little crown of incandescent bulbs is not amiss above his brow.

I've heard of people painting the town red but they would be helpless to incarnadine further the country of Sao Paulo. All the soil is of a marvelous redness shading to vivid crimson and rose. With its billowing red hills it is startlingly reminiscent of San Diego County, California. Showing a Hibernian tendency these hills all have the green of the coffee trees above the red soil. As far as the eye can see the coffee plantations stretch away into the distance. Some plantations boast of over a million trees. To speak of coffee trees is very misleading. In reality they are like nothing so much as big lilac bushes except that the leaves are smaller. The coffee berry itself looks like a cherry turning from green to a bright cherry red through its different stages of ripeness. Unlike the cherry, however the coffee berry grows in clusters, interspersed with leaves, closely fastened, without stems to branches of the tree. It has little pulp and no juice and the coffee beans proper form the heart of the berry like a cherry pit split into halves.

And here is where the difference between the Mocha and Java comes in. Not being a prize student of botany I don't know the technical terms but something happens to the stamen of some coffee blossoms so that they make stunted beans and round of shape which are called Java while the perfect Mocha beans are large and oval in contour. So it is just the subtle difference in their shapes you taste when they are all ground up together.

In coffee picking time even the littlest tots help in the harvest. Everybody works, even father. The picking consists in stripping all the berries off right down the branch. As the leaves get in somewhat on the general strip, after the harvest, the poor old coffee tree looks a bit denuded.

The berries are striped off and allowed to fall on the ground where they are raked up and carried away in baskets.

The next step is to spread them out on an open cement court to dry in the sun.

When the berries are all shriveled and dried to the consistency of husks they are put through successive machines that husk them and separate the Mocha beans from the Java. They finally land in sacks ready to be shipped down to Santos and exported.

As you sip your Turkish, French or, U. S. A., coffee you may be almost sure it has a Brazilian past. For it is only by the different degrees and processes of roasting in the different countries to which it is sent that the good old native Brazilian bean becomes disguised as a terrible Turk or in true Parisian manner, starts a liaison with chicoree and becomes "cafe."

I have tried to make this coffee clear for you, to show you just where your coffee's bean. I hope it all has percolated.

The Loyal Daughters were very successful at their parcel post sale and penny supper Wednesday evening, the total amount taken in being about $125.

The J. H. Scholl Sunday school class of the St. Paul's M. E. church will hold an exchange and parcel post sale tomorrow in the room formerly occupied by the Mulno store in West Second street.

Plants in the House

Through the winter the housewife, if she cares to take the necessary trouble, may have compensation for the lack of her outdoor garden by growing various plant in window boxes or pots in the house. For most part she will have to content herself with foliage, though she may be able to coax a few flowers to bloom. The following suggestions for preparations for the indoor garden and for caring for it later are made by specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

If an indoor window box is decided upon, a good depth for it is about 8 inches. The bottom of the box should be covered with stones and broken pottery for drainage. This should be covered with a layer of moss to prevent the soil from working down and clogging the drainage space. The drainage and moss should take up together about 2 inches. The greater the body of soil above the moss the more uniformly moist it may be kept. The soil should fail to fill the box by from 1 1/2 to 2 inches.

The indoor window box should be as long as the window is wide, and to get as much light as possible it should be level with the window sill. It may be placed either on brackets, a table, or legs permanently fastened to it. A hole or holes should be placed beneath to catch drainage water.

The top of the soil should be allowed to become dry occasionally. The results of watering should be closely observed and the supply regulated according to needs. Watering may be necessary in sun-shiny weather, especially toward spring, every day or at least every other day. In cloudy and midwinter weather it will not be necessary to water more often than once a week. In general it is better to water lightly and frequently than heavily and infrequently, although just the reverse is considered best when watering is done out of doors in summer.

Only plants of the same general character should be placed in window boxes, since plants of different kinds require different treatment. Begonias are about the only plants that may be expected to flower in a window box. For the most part foliage alone must be depended upon as the contribution of the indoor plant, which may be grown for foliage for window boxes are ferns, geraniums, Kenilworth ivy, smilax, and aspidistra. The latter plant is especially valuable as a window box plant as it will thrive in spite of considerable neglect, drought and dust.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
New York, Oct. 27.—Yale, Harvard and Princeton, the "big three" of the eastern football tangle, will go into the crucial points of their 1916 careers tomorrow. Yale is due to show its strength to the strong Washington and Jefferson team; Harvard must tackle Cornell, and Princeton will be willing to call it a real day's work if the Tigers are able to take a fall out of Dartmouth. Inter-sectional battles of more or less importance are found on the day's calendar, with Indiana meeting Tufts, that surprising bunch of veteran eastern warriors, in Indianapolis. It will be the second big meeting between eastern and western elevens, Colgate having already lowered the colors of the Illinois huskies. Illinois is considered stronger than Indiana, so Tufts should have little trouble in downing Indiana.

The Oregon Aggies and Michigan Aggies will be at it in East Lansing at the same time Michigan is playing her big battle of the year, the contest with Syracuse.

Edmonton, Alt., Oct. 27.—C. S. Noble, pioneer farmer of the Claresholm district, today had official award from the Alberta government, of the world's record for raising wheat. His 1,000 acre field averaged 52 bushels to the acre. This is one bushel higher than the previous world's record, held in Polone county, Washington, in the United States. The grain Noble says, will grade No. 1 hard.

NEUTRALITY IS BEING DEFENDED

Dutch Government is Ready to Fight Either Teutons or Allies For Any Break.

IS BUILDING GREAT NAVY

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
The Hague, Oct. 27.—(By Mail)—The Dutch government is ready to go to war any moment to protect Holland's neutrality. Dutch officials admit it.

Holland is not tempting Fate, though. Her diplomats and influential newspapers are doing their best to keep her from any combination of circumstances that might force her to side with one belligerent or the other in the war.

Dutch officials candidly admit they will fight England for any unneutral act against or upon Dutch soil; and that the same thing goes for Germany. Holland will fight her for the same reasons and just as quickly.

Holland is devoting as much time, material and energy to the upbuilding of her army as she is to the development of her navy.

Today it is the Queen who is the "woman of the hour" and the real leader of the government of Holland. Every morning at 6:30 she is at her desk and she works all day. She attends every ministerial council and is said to have written the clearest parts of many of Holland's protest notes to both Great Britain and Germany.

Holland, as is well known, is building a great many submarines. A few days ago a new one was launched and the Queen went out in it for half an hour, traveling part of the time under water. The Queen observes strict neutrality in her own household. Her husband, Prince Henry, was a German prince from Mecklenburg, so there is naturally some feeling among pro-Ally Dutch

about this. His loyalty to Holland is not questioned but in order not to have him suspected in any way he is told none of the secrets of state. He is made chief of the Red Cross so he can have something to do, but in this work he is subject to the orders of General Schneider, chief of the General Staff.

We put it up to Hundreds of Dentists

Long before SENRECO was offered to you we submitted it to hundreds of dentists, requesting that they put it to every test. Told them that we believed Senreco to be an unusually good dentifrice, especially as to its cleansing qualities and its remedial action on sore, soft, bleeding gums; in the treatment of Pyorrhea, etc. Submitted the formula and asked them their opinion. They tested Senreco from every angle; some going even so far as to make a chemical analysis—

With practically one accord—said:

"Senreco appeals to me more than any dentifrice I have ever seen." "I cannot say too much for Senreco. It's one of the best I have used." "I can recommend Senreco as the best." "Makes the teeth glisten and is free from injurious ingredients, including perfume and grit." "I am inclined to get a tooth paste that does the work." "Congratulations you on formulating a dentifrice that gives one a new idea of mouth cleanliness, etc." (These quotations are from the dentists' reports. Originals on file at our office.)
With such endorsements from the men who know; why not go to your dealer today and get a tube of SENRECO—25c. Keep your teeth REALLY CLEAN, and protect yourself against Pyorrhea and decay.
A copy of the folder, "The Most General Disease in the World" together with a liberal trial size tube of SENRECO will be mailed you for 4c in stamps. The Santal Remedies Co., Inc. Dept. B, Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.

ed the part of the noble peacemaker he would not have done this and at the same time would have sent out message stating that no arms could be shipped to Europe. Then he would have been the peacemaker.

"But still they tell you, 'he has kept us out of war.' Again I ask you what war he kept us out of? We did not want to fight Germany. Germany did not want to fight us. We did not want to fight England or France or Russia. And they did not want to fight us. Has there not always been a tie of friendship between this country and France. Did they not give us Lafayette and did they not buy our bonds at a time when we were fighting for our liberty?"

"The other day while I was in a restaurant, two of our democratic friends were discussing what a great president we had because he had kept us out of war. Their praise was warm and between the two they almost formed a mutual admiration society. Nearby was a woman in deep mourning. When the conversation between the two men relaxed a little she arose and went to their table. Begging their pardon she stated that she had overheard their conversation, and felt compelled to tell them something. She said 'you see my mourning. I lost a son on the border. If that isn't war what is war? The two men had nothing more to say about 'he kept us out of war.' Think of the many mothers in this country that have lost sons in the same way and do you think they will tell you it was not war?"

"If we did not have war what do you call it when we captured Vera Cruz? We tried to make Huerta salute the flag and he didn't do it. I don't blame him. Wilson did not recognize him as president of Mexico and since he wasn't the president of Mexico why should he salute

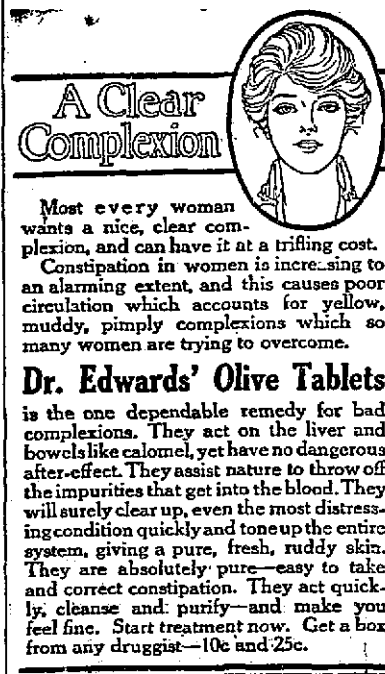

the flag. Then they have another slogan about being too proud to fight. Where would and I be tonight my colored brethren if the Boys in Blue had been to proud to fight?"

Mr. Brewer then told what he termed mistreatment of colored troops by President Wilson in Mexico and declared that the twenty colored soldiers were buried in Arlington cemetery without any ceremony, showing the democratic party was not fair to the negro. "You may have heard it said that the negroes in Indianapolis were going to vote for Tom Taggart. This is not true. He stands for the same things that the democratic party stands for and you know this party has never been your friend."

In closing he paid a tribute to James E. Watson, declaring that he was the "greatest American statesman today and was worth more than the entire party in his service to the country."

The colored drum corps and glee club furnished the music for the meeting.

LONDON YANKEES BUM PLAYERS

Breezy English Sport Writer Describes How Canadian Baseball Team Defeated Them.

THE SCORE TO BE 9 TO 1

"Canadian Thrower Bowled Very Well," Writes English Chap With Knowledge of Game.

BY J. W. PEGLER,
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Oct. 1.—(By Mail)—"I learn," wrote a breezy English sport writer, "that the Canadian Soldiers' Baseball Nine defeated the London American Club by nine scores to one in a match last Saturday at Queens' club."

In the King's English, that's about what happened. The journalist with the five-gallon hat had to rush to catch his Monday sporting extra so his story was kind of brief. He missed a few details such as the American catchers skill—work in throwing to second with a runner on third and none out. He also overlooked the fact that a gent in a heliotrope shirt pitched big league ball for the star-spangled troupe while his co-called supporters unravelled an ivory repertoire.

"The match," says the liting account, "was replete with exciting incidents and fraught throughout with keen, though quite amiable rivalry. The Canadian thrower bowled very well indeed."

O, 'ell, yes; he bowled jolly well. The Canadian strikers batted well, too, and the chap with the odd-looking mask played a ripping game as wicket keeper.

The Americans played ball until the third inning. After that, they never had a chance. And a fading sun's last glimpse saw the Saskatoon farmers still running hog-wild on the paths while sundry Americans threw the ball all over the park.

They went into the third with the count knotted, one and one. Rolands, the soldiers' short-stop, worked a pass and the boys from the trenches yipped loose with a vocal barrage. As the echo died away the Americans' nanny was seen streaking across the field and out of the park through the free gate.

The heliotrope shirt wound up with a Big Ben movement, convulsed and shot the ball to first just as Rolands led off for second. There was a man at first with a glove and uniform but he didn't seem to belong to the club. Anyway he was too proud to stop the throw and the pill gamboled under the club-house steps. Rolands took second and the Canadians began a campaign of frightfulness. The next dumped one in front of the plate and was safe while Neargard, the chap with the odd mask, fondled the ball. A bomber named Doyle fanned. A pitched ball went through Neargard and Rolands scored. Other batters came up and got on through devious means, though no one got a hit. Even the official scorer lost heart and hope in the ensuing moments. Everyone but the runners took a hand in throwing the ball and everyone boot-ed it. Three runs went in before it was over and not a hit had been made.

The rest of the game was like that. Of course some of the innings were different because the Yanks were worse in some spots than in others. And all the while a human fringe of khaki and blue, Canadian soldiers waiting for the front and those recovering from wounds, kept up a world's series of noise. When they weren't riding Van Nais, the American pitcher, they kidded Gerton and bag-pipes of the Scots, slung creepy music all over the place. A set of drums gave base to the din and and improvised megaphone carried delicate compliments to American ears.

Somebody said the score was nine to one when it was all over and no one cared enough about it to quarrel. Van Nais lost an uphill fight far from the glades of his native Brooklyn, and allowed only seven hits at that. He walked a few men; say others, but why not when they'd get on on the third strike even if he did strike them out.

But it was all a joke and if anybody won money he probably gave it to the Canadian wounded whose wives and children got the state receipts. The attendance was the best baseball crowd London has had this year.

The score: Canadians, 9-7-3. Americans, 1-6-8.

There were more American errors than the final shows. The scorer got tired in the fourth inning and began counting them by twos.

SPARROW STEALS LETTERS.

Nashville, Ind., Oct. 27.—Mart Lucas, a "cunstoner" on C. M. Calvin's rural route, tried for several days to catch a "thief" who had been stealing letters from his mail box. Several times letters had been placed in the box which Lucas had not received. Finally Lucas hid behind a tree when the mail carrier placed a letter in the box. After watching awhile, a sparrow flew into the box and came out with the letter in its beak. It flew to the barn where the missing letters were found.

OLD DEEDS RECORDED.

(By United Press.)

Hartford City, Ind., Oct. 27.—Three sheepskins on which grants of lands were made during Andrew Jackson's term as president, were recorded with the register of deeds for the first time. The dates on the sheepskins are August 5, and September 2, 1834 and November 7, 1835.

TEACHERS HEARD TARBELL.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—Ida M. Tarbell talked before the Indiana Teachers here for their annual convention today, speaking on "Industrial Realism." The Little Theatre society will again entertain the teachers tonight with a review of the literary history of Indiana for the last 100 years.

IS SMART KID.

Shelbyville, Ind., Oct. 27.—Frances Raper, three and one-half years old, has never been to school yet but she can answer some questions about politics and geography which would stump a university "grad." Frances can answer most any question about the location and population of large cities, capitals and who are holding down the jobs of president, governor and local officers?

TRY THIS TO BANISH ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS

People who have been tormented for years—yes, even so crippled that they were unable to help themselves—have been brought back to robust health through the mighty power of Rheuma.

Rheuma acts with speed; it brings in a few days the relief you have prayed for. It antagonizes the poisons that cause agony and pain in the joints and muscles and quickly the torturing soreness completely disappears.

It is a harmless remedy, but sure and certain, because it is one discovery that has forced rheumatism and sciatica to yield and disappear.

If you want relief, swift, gratifying relief, get a 50-cent bottle of Rheuma from any druggist, and take one-half teaspoonful once a day.

Genuine Rheuma, with guarantee of a cure or money refunded, is sold by JOHNSON'S DRUG STORE

Democratic Prosperity In 1914

Below is a sample of the sort of news that was appearing in the papers during the months when Mr. Wilson and his party were trying to produce prosperity without the assistance of munitions contracts. The date is January 1, 1914.

Five Hundred Men Paraded the Streets of Chicago.

"You Are Drunk and We Are Hungry," They Shouted.

Broke Windows and Punctured Tires of Automobiles.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH.)
CHICAGO, January 2.—Entering restaurants and demanding food,
breaking windows, and puncturing automobile tires, a crowd of nearly 500 unemployed men early this morning marched through Chicago's business district. They furnished a strange contrast to New Year revelers who were leaving the cafes and restaurants.

The men marched in State street, four abreast, carrying a banner which read: "We demand work, not charity." The army halted street cars and cried to passengers that they wanted work. At Van Buren street the police halted the marchers, but they soon reformed their line farther down the street.

"Hey, you bums, what's up!" shouted a pedestrian from the curb. "You are drunk and we are hungry," replied one of the leaders. The band finally broke up into small groups.

James E. Watson said at Richmond that Shadow Lawn was a very appropriate term for the place where President Wilson is now staying, "because the shadows are lengthening." The Indianapolis Star said yesterday that Shadow Lawn was a good place for Woodrow to go into eclipse after Nov. 7. At any rate, things already look dim in shadows, whether they be lawns or whatnot.

President Wilson forced the abolition of the tariff commission by President Taft. Now he espousing a tariff commission with all the zeal of a new convert. It is a question of whether the president's insincerity is ingrained or ingrowing.

In an address to Congress, President Wilson himself referred to the European war as "a war with which we have nothing to do, a war whose causes do not touch us." So how could he keep us out of a war with which we have nothing to do and whose causes do not touch us?

WIFE TOO ILL TO WORK

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana. — "My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a godsend to me for I would have been in my grave today but for it. I would tell all women suffering as I was to try your valuable remedy." — Mrs. WM. GREEN, 832 S. Addison Street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

There is hardly a neighborhood in this country, wherein some woman has not found health by using this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy.

If there is anything about which you would like special advice, write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

WILSON SNUB FOR FARMERS

Hughes Shows How Farmers of the Soil Were Ignored in Railroad Discussion.

CROP RAISERS FOOT BILL TO PAY FOR BROTHERHOOD DEAL.

Democratic Nominee Levelled a Body Blow at the Interests of Our Agricultural Communities When at the Behest of an Exclusive Group of Railroad Workers He Increased Their Pay Without Investigating the Justice of the Demand.

Charles E. Hughes, who left Lincoln for his second day's campaigning in Nebraska, told a crowd of farmers in his speech there that the Democratic Administration had ignored the agricultural interests of the country in urging the enactment of the Adamson law. The nominee in support of his contention, cited a telegram from President E. N. Pope of the Texas Farmers' Union to President Wilson requesting that the farmers be permitted to submit data in arbitration proceedings between the railroads and the brotherhoods. He said:

Someone Must Pay.
"I want to say in reference to rates that it seems to me the farmers of the country were very little considered the other day when on the demand of the Administration the wages of a group of railroad workers were increased by law, in response to force. Somebody has got to pay the increased bills, and the farmers will know very quick who has to pay them.
"The farmers were not represented in this discussion, if you may call it that in this surrender.—I have here a copy of a telegram that was sent to the President by Mr. Pope, the president of the State Farmers' Union of Texas, which I shall read to you:

"We ask that you make no concessions or commitments that will in any manner cause an increase in freight rates on products produced or consumed on the farm. The men who pay the freight have an equity in this dispute, which neither the railroad trainmen nor the railroad managers have authority to represent. If it is your intention to personally dispose of the matter we ask that you postpone further consideration until a committee of farmers can prepare information and data to present their side of the case. If you conclude to settle by arbitration, then the organized farmers should have representation on any arbitration committee that may be formed to dispose of this question; for the men who pay should have representation as well as the men who receive it.
"We again urge that all questions involved be settled by arbitration, where all parties and all interests can be heard and the subject dealt with aside from haste and intimidation."

Asked to Abdicate Authority.
The crowd cheered when Mr. Hughes concluded reading the telegram.
"No regard was paid to that message," Mr. Hughes said. "The business men of the country, through the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, were at the same time and had for many weeks before been imploring the executive and leaders in congress for an immediate and prompt inquiry in order that the justice of this matter might be known. The farmers were not there except through the presence of the representatives of the people in congress, and those representatives were asked to abdicate their authority."

"I am in favor of everything that can reasonably be done for the promotion of agriculture. I am glad to note the work of the Agricultural Department. It will be continued with me, if I am entrusted with the power, to the utmost of efficiency under my administration.
A Body Blow Levelled.
"But it is idle to talk of interest in the farmer when you have action like this taken in congress overnight, against the protests of the farmer, and leveling a body blow at the interests of our agricultural communities."
Mr. Hughes again denied the declaration that a vote for him "meant a vote for war."

Mr. Wilson says the election of Mr. Hughes will mean war with Europe and war with Mexico. Why not chuck in Abyssinia and Patagonia for good measure? One is as likely as the other.

Now Ellis Parker Butler, author of "Figs Is Figs," has declared for Wilson. It's a great administration for pork all right.

Now that Mr. Hughes has been elected, they're referring to it out there as the "I'm Shown" state.

A doormat leads a life of supreme peace, but it has to stand for a great lot of stepping on.

HAS OPENED HEADQUARTERS

W. C. T. U. President-Getting Ready For National Convention.

(By United Press.) Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—Mrs. Calla J. Vayhinger of Upland, Ind., president of the Indiana W. C. T. U. has opened headquarters in this city and begun the work of preparing for entertaining the National Women's Christian Temperance Union convention which will be held here November 17 to 22.

Delegates to the meeting consist of state presidents, national organizers and lecturers.

Mrs. Vayhinger came to Indianapolis from Huntington where the state convention was held.

ANOTHER BASIDIOMYCETES.

(By United Press.) Gary, Ind., Oct. 27.—An eight pound mushroom sent to the department of agriculture at Washington, brought a letter of thanks to Frank Zawadzki that "the basidiomycetes was of the polibrufrimdoeus variety" and one of the largest ever found.

BAD TOOTH IS COSTLY.

(By United Press.) Ft. Wayne, Ind., Oct. 27.—Joe Miller had a tooth that ached and throbbed; so he started for the dentist's office. In order to get up courage to have the tooth fanked, took a drink, but that was not sufficient. He was given twenty-five days in jail and fined $10.

COMMISSION GETS THE BLAME

Another With Such Prices in Vogue Will be Poorly Patronized, it is Hinted.

BY HAMILTON.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.) New York, Oct., 27.—The chase after the almighty dollar and the ultimate end of this chase, the death of the goose that lays the golden egg—never had a more forceful bunch of evidence against its practice than in the world's series between Boston and Brooklyn.

Charles H. Ebbels isn't to blame, nor is Joseph Lannin. The fault is with the August National Commission, the supposed protector of organized baseball. When the races in the American and National leagues reached a critical point early in October, the Commission made its plans for the big event, instructing all clubs which had a chance to have tickets printed and prepare them for sale. They fixed a scale of prices which skidded from 50 cents for a bleacher seat in Boston and $1 in Brooklyn, to $5 for the best box seats.

There was quashing of teeth and bitter wailing by the fans, but they having become baseball fans, were determined to see the thing through and they turned out well. There were vacancies in the Brooklyn park, but they did a big business in Boston.

Just the same the wail of the fans is certainly going to be heard. If the National Commission attempts to stage another world's series with such prices in vogue, critics everywhere are confidently predicting the rulers of the game will get the shock of their dignified lives when they count the resultant kale.

It was the mad, dashing blood-struggle for money that put the curse on horse racing and the same thing almost has done it to boxing. The National Commission is flitting with obscurity when it costs everything but the commercial side of the game to the dogs.

The success of football, the great college sport, run exclusively from a sporting standpoint, is a hint Gary Herrmann, et al., should not overlook.

Furnace comfort and efficiency at less than heating stove cost

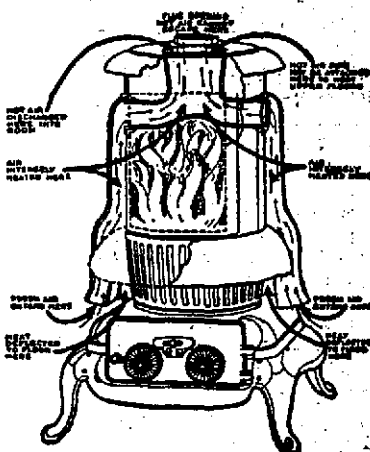

EVERYBODY who has a house to heat should be vitally interested in this remarkable new hot-air heating system that costs very little more than any ordinary heating stove to buy, no more to install, and much less to operate.

Estate Hot Storm — the Stove with a "Little Furnace in it" is not a stove, not a furnace, but a heating system that combines the best features of both. It sets in the room like a stove, its exterior looks like a stove, but there the similarity ends. For the interior is utterly different from any stove you have ever seen; inside it is built like a hot air furnace.

The diagram shows how it works

Fresh air (just as with a furnace) is drawn in at the sides, heated evenly to several hundred degrees temperature, and then discharged—not through the flue and chimney, but through the top of the Hot-Air Chamber into the room. This creates a thorough circulation of hot air that will successfully heat several rooms. Even the upstairs rooms can be heated by the aid of a simple pipe connection.

Saved fuel pays for it

Only a very small percentage of the heat is allowed to escape up the chimney, for the Little Furnace blocks the upward rushing heat, absorbing it and throwing it back against the radiating surfaces of the stove proper. This results in an amazing saving of fuel—a saving so great that your Estate Hot Storm will soon pay for itself. And after that it will pay you.

All we ask you to do is to investigate the Estate Hot Storm—give us an opportunity to explain it to you—before you buy a stove of any kind. You owe it to yourself to do this.
